Major Parties Look For Advantage as Rocky Withdraws

Republicans Hail Unity While Democrats Hit Conservatives

BY RAY CROWLEY

Washington —(AP)— Both major parties strove today to capitalize on a stunning political surprise — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's withdrawal from the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

Republicans pictured the GOP as a unified party, one which refrains from rending itself apart in brawling convention contests — a party which can now devote all its energies to electing Vice President Richard M. Nixon to the presidency.

Democrats depicted the GOP as controlled by old pro conservatives, who do not give "progressives" like the

New York governor a look-in. There was even talk—notably by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas—of drafting Rockefeller for a high post under "the Democratic president to be elected next November."

Dull Convention Seen

Neither party had much to say in public about the problems posed for it by Rockefeller's "definite and final" announcement on Saturday that he would not be a candidate in 1960 for the presidential nomination, and would not accept the vice presidential spot.

One big poser for the Republicans was how to pump any drama into their convention opening in Chicago next July 25. It will be like a mystery novel of which every reader knows the ending.

Confer With Steel Groups

Inquiry Board Has Separate Sessions With Factions

Washington —(AP)— President Eisenhower's inquiry board went into separate huddles today with the deadlocked steel labor disputants.

The 3-man panel headed by George W. Taylor conferred first with representatives of the United Steelworkers union and scheduled a separate meeting later with industry negotiators.

Taylor also arranged to hold a news conference in early afternoon ahead of a public hearing on the status of the dispute.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, was due to testify at the hearing in behalf of the steelworkers union.

The negotiations entered a new phase in an atmosphere of risng tension and thickening gloom.

Joseph F. Finnegan, chief federal mediator, said negotiations yesterday between top industry and united Steelworkers bargaining teams produced "zero" results.

There were reports that some of the scores of individual company negotiations staged simultaneously yesterday were getting results worse then zero.

Asserts Shooting Was Accidental

Atlanta —(AP)— The police chief of suburban Union city said today he accidentally shot a Negro man while indulging in some horseplay.

Chief P. H. Houston said the incident occurred Wednesday when the man, Willie James Bridges, 48, a pulpwood worker, "just came by" the city hall.

Bridges was reported in fair condition with a gunshot wound in the abdomen.

Houston said he was holding a gun loaded with blanks in his right hand and one loaded with live ammunition in his left.

"He (Bridges) grabbed at the one with live cartridges and I told him to let go, it had live bullets, and it went off," Houston said.

The Fateful Fifties Viewed In New Series

The decade of the Fifties produced a technology capable of universal death — or universal abundance. It was a decade of fear and of hope, of tremors in the world balance of power, of shocks to the American way of life.

During these 10 years of great promise, great achievement and great challenge, Associated Press Reporter Relman Morin roved the world to witness the events which made headlines.

Gas Explosion Endangers City In California

Tug Shattered Next To Barge Loaded With High Octane

Crescent City, Calif. — (AP) — For three hours it was touch and go in this north coast harbor town.

A tug boat exploded next to a barge loaded with 800,000 gallons of high octane gasoline.

When the peril ended yesterday, one man was missing and believed dead, another was burned. Four were pitched into the bay by the force of the morning blast.

The downtown district of Crescent City a community of 2,750, was evacuated. Fishing boats, tied up during the holidays, lifted anchor. Many carried local residents.

The blast had the force of an earthquake in the waterfront area. It was felt as far away as Brookings, Ore., 30 miles to the north.

Deckhand Missing

The missing man was Gordon McCallen, 23, of Seattle, a deckhand on the tug Celilo. The vessel belonged to the Upper Columbia River Towing company, Portland, Ore., and had just arrived from San Francisco with the gasoline-laden barge.

McCallen's post was directly over the central force of the first of two explosions.

Hospitalized with burns was Lawrence Hanson, 31, of Portstown, Wash.

Hanson said gas from the 97-foot barge spilled and was sucked into the engine room through a ventilator. The engine room filled with gasoline vapor.

"The diesel engines ran wild."

A coast guard cutter pumped water on the tug while the entire Crescent City fire department — plus volunteers — fought shoreside fires and flash fires aboard the highly volatile barge.

It had been unloading gasoline into underground pipes which carry the fuel to tanks south of the city.

Crash Day After Christmas Orphans Three Children

New London Couple Dies In Accident

A 3-car crash the day after Christmas proved fatal to a New London couple and hospitalized their three orphaned children.

The couple's death accounted for two of the five fatalities reported on state highways over the Christmas holidays. A non-traffic death raised the long weekend's toll to six, compared with 14 during the 1958 holiday. The state highway toll for the year stood at 811 today, three less than a year ago.

Children Injured

The New London couple was Mr. and Mrs Donald L. Pecard, 1515 S. Pearl street. Both died almost instantly in a headon crash on Highway 45 about three miles north of New London at 11:50 a.m. Saturday.

Pecard, 34, the driver, suffered crushing chest injuries and Mrs. Pecard, 28, suffered a fractured skull. Dr. John W. Monsted, deputy Waupaca county coroner, said there would be no inquest.

Their children were hospitalized at New London Community hospital, where they were reported in good condition. Judith Ann, 7, suffered a fractured upper right arm and hip injuries; Jeffery, 4, had head injury and was in

Traffic Toll For Holidays Grows to 488

Final Death Total May be Less Than Council Estimated

By the Associated Press

The national traffic death toll at the end of the 78-hour holiday period starting at 6 a. m. (local time) Christmas eve and ending at midnight Sunday stood at 488. There were 42 fatalities in fires and 72 in miscellaneous accidents, for an overall total of 602.

An average of more than six persons were killed each hour.

Survey By AP

It appeared likely that the final death toll will be less than the pre-holiday estimate of 530 made by the National Safety Council.

The staggering toll, however, far exceeds the number that would be killed on the highways during a non-holiday weekend period of the same length at this time of year. The council estimated 370.

The Associated Press in a survey during a non-holiday period earlier this month, covering 78 hours, counted 324 traffic fatalities.

1.55 Inches of Rain Clog Sewers, Flood Basements In Fox Cities Streets, Homes

Winter, the weatherman says, will return to the Fox Cities with a promise of falling temperatures and new snow by late today.

The snow has returned to northern portions of the state. Heavy snow was falling in a line north of Marinette and Wausau at 10 a. m., the Green Bay weather bureau said. Heavy snow is expected to move south in a line above Green Bay by late this afternoon.

A snowstorm powering its way northeast out of Oklahoma has tapered off in Iowa. Its center was weakened at 6 a. m. today. A new storm center is rising in New York state.

Rain to Snow

Rain is expected to turn to snow and sleet here tonight, with temperatures in the low 30s. Tuesday is to be cloudy and cold, with snow.

The 1 55 inches of rain that has fallen in the Fox Cities since Saturday has clogged sewers, flooded basements and halted traffic in some spots in the Fox Cities.

Gasoline Burns

A flash fire at 7:15 a. m. today in the basement of the E. M. Huntz home, 212 Elm street, Menasha, caused considerable smoke damage.

Several cans of gasoline were floating in the flooded basement. They tipped and spread gasoline across the water. Fumes rose to the pilot light of a gas furnace and caused the fire.

Firemen were present and brought the blaze under control.

Neenah caught the heaviest water damage during the steady rain. Firemen were

Russia Accepts Talks May 15

Informed Sources In Moscow Assert Khrushchev Agrees

Moscow —(AP)— Informed sources said today the Soviet Union has accepted a western proposal to reopen disarmament talks in Geneva March 15.

The date and site for the 10-nation disarmament meeting were advanced by the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy after a meeting Dec. 21 in Paris.

Communist nations to sit in on the meeting are the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Poland and Rómania.

The commission is sponsored by the United Nations.

The Soviet agreement was contained in a note handed to French Ambassador Maurice Dejean by Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin at noon today.

This is the first time the west has agreed to numerical equality for the communist bloc on one of these commissions.

The disarmament conference, coming ahead of the projected east-west summit talks in Paris, would give the western powers a chance to test Soviet intentions.

Kassem May be Using Troops On Border in Fear of Revolt

BY JOSEPH E. DYNAN

Teheran, Iran —(AP)— Reports of unrest sweeping southern Iraq roused speculation today that Premier Abdel Karim Kassem may be moving troops into the area to counter a threat of revolt rather than to launch any move against Iran.

Iraqi tradesman crossing the border from Basra into Iran said opposition to Kassem's regime is mounting. Tribesmen are arming farmers and other civilians for an open revolt. There was no way of determining the accuracy of the reports.

One merchant said a demonstration had been staged against Kassem in the Iraqi village of Amereh and anti-Kassem leaflets distributed.

There were reports also of new Iraqi troop movements west of the frontier above Khorramshahr. Detachments were noted at Shier, a community across the border from the Iranian village of Fakkeh. Another Iraqi contingent arrived at the village of Shalamachen.

Iranian countermoves continued. An armored column including 40 tanks and mobile artillery from the Iranian 9th division arrived in the troubled area.

King Baudouin Pays Belgian Congo Visit

Leopoldville, Belgian Congo —(AP)—King Baudouin of the Belgians rode in regal splendor today into the political domain of Joseph Kasavubu, king of the Bakongos, on the last leg of his fact-finding tour of the troubled Belgian Congo.

Here, in the shrill nationalism of Bakongo tribesmen the 29-year-old monarch will find the ultimate fact of his 2-week tour: There is no staying the tide of revolutionary fervor sweeping this old Belgian colony.

Kasavubu, 42, a round-faced political leader, is expected to be one of the king's early callers.

NATO Issues Grave Ones for Paris, Foreign Minister Says

Paris —(AP)— Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said today problems facing the Atlantic alliance are vital and grave for France, but he hopes they can be overcome without weakening the defense of Europe.

The plan for integrating national air force commands in an over-all allied command raises great difficulties, he told parliament.

"To give, over the whole of French territory, in peace as in war, authority — that is to say in particular the right to open fire — to a commander in chief who is not directly under the orders of the French government. . . poses a problem whose gravity I ask the assembly to understand."

French foot-dragging in the Atlantic alliance was a topic of debate in the NATO ministerial council meeting here in mid-December. President Eisenhower discussed the integration problem privately with President Charles de Gaulle at the western summit session in Paris.

Train Runs Into Puget Sound

2 Vast Earth Slides Spill 13 Cars in Water Near Seattle

Seattle —(AP)— Two massive earth slides in the space of 20 minutes pushed part of a crack 13-car passenger train into Puget sound 12 miles north of here yesterday.

Ten persons—six of them crew members—were injured, none seriously.

The Great Northern railway's Empire Builder, bound for Chicago with 188 passengers, was about 30 minutes out of Seattle when the first slide struck. It derailed a 4-unit diesel locomotive.

6 Cars Derailed

Twenty minutes later, with help already on the scene, another slide again slammed into the diesel units.

It carried the diesel units and a baggage-mail car out into the sound. A mail-dormitory car was left teetering on a seawall.

Strung out along the tracks were six other cars, all derailed but still standing upright. Four Pullman cars and a diner stayed on the tracks.

7 Men Arrested at Struck Wilson Plant

Car Search at Gates Turns Up Firearms

BY BILL CHEVALIER

Albert Lea, Minn. — (AP)— Police today jailed seven men entering the strike troubled Wilson and company meat packing plant here for carrying firearms through the gates.

There were no disturbances however, as cars carrying non-union workers streamed into the grounds of the plant, reopened today under federal court order.

Mrs. Everette Stovern, wife of the Freeborn county sheriff said the seven men were jailed and seven weapons confiscated. She said she did not know whether the seven were non-union workers or other Wilson personnel. In the absence of the sheriff, who was on duty near the plant, she did not know what charges had been lodged against the men.

Resumes Work

The plant resumed operations under protection of National Guardsmen, sent here two and one-half weeks ago to quell picket line violence.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America union had only token pickets at the gates as cars carrying non-union workers streamed into the plant's grounds this morning.

Martial law in Albert Lea and surrounding Freeborn county was lifted at midnight by Gov. Orville Freeman in compliance with the court order that reopened the plant.

The guardsmen were kept on duty, however, to help local police to keep the peace that has been undisturbed since the two days of rock-throwing demonstrations Dec. 9 and 10.

Enforce Order

Their main job was to enforce a district court order issued before martial law was declared. The order signed by Judge John Cahill prohibited more than four union pickets at any plant entrance or more than three persons congregating outside the gates.

The union's local 6 appeared to be taking care not to allow more than four pickets at the plant's main gate. But guardsmen were kept busy dispersing small groups of newsmen and photographers.

The weapons were found as local officers and guardsmen searched every car going through the plant gate. One guard officer said "We're shaking them down."

A Wilson spokesman said the plant would concentrate on killing hogs today, with further processing scheduled for Tuesday. No cattle or sheep were on hand.

Urges No Violence

Sunday, Ralph Helstein of Chicago, international president of the UPWA, addressed the local 6 membership. He urged the 1,100 men to avoid violence.

The UPWA head said that in the contract talks in Chicago last week, the company refused to state its position on major issues.

He said the union plans to present a total strike settlement proposal at today's resumption of negotiations.

Main issue in the long dispute has been overtime pay. Wilson ended negotiations over a new contract Oct. 29 when 225 workers refused to work a 9-hour day, claiming this a violation of the contract. Management accused them of taking part in a sit-down strike and ordered them out of the plant. The talks in Chicago resumed Dec. 17.

Transportation Strike Set for '60's Entrance

4,000 Workers to Stop All New York Subways and Buses

New York —(AP)— Four thousand transportation workers have authorized a strike aimed at halting all subways and buses in the city the minute 1960 arrives.

Such a strike could create a monumental jam of revelers in this city famous for its Times Square New Year's eve throngs.

Members of the transport workers union packed the Manhattan center Sunday to unanimously endorse the strike, which could cripple the city long past holiday celebrations.

Never Before Struck

However, the TWU has never before struck the subway system. It has threatened to often and has taken countless strike votes. The union last stopped the operation of private bus lines in 1953. But it was another union—the Motormen's Benevolent association, now merged with the TWU—that conducted an 8-day subway strike in December 1957.

A special committee set up by Mayor Robert F. Wagner meets today with representatives of the union, the transit authority and seven private bus lines to try to avert a strike. At the same time, another committee of the city department heads meet to talk about how to handle such a strike should it come.

"The city will be prepared to meet any eventuality that might arise in this situation," said Wagner.

Want Increase

The strike would involve approximately 38,000 workers on the subways, city-owned buses and private bus lines. They want a 15 per cent increase in wages, which now range from $2.04½ to $2.72 an hour.

The union's contract with the transit authority expires Jan. 1, but its pact with the private bus lines ended Dec. 1. That contract has been extended twice to expire at the same time as the transit authority pact.

Sets Pattern

Usually, the authority's contract sets the pattern for the private bus lines to follow. But this year the private firms say they cannot raise wages without some tax relief from the city. Mayor Wagner has made no promises to them.

TWU President Michael J. Quill told union members yesterday: "There will be no agreement with the transit authority unless there is also an agreement with the seven private bus companies, and there will be no agreement with the seven private bus companies unless there is an agreement with the transit authority."

Quill also told the meeting: "They tell us that if there is a strike it will last over the weekend only. Don't be fooled. This thing will not be settled overnight if we are forced to strike."

Mother Jailed As Police Check Killing

Walter Kidrick of Black River Falls Found Dead in Home

Black River Falls—(AP)—A 41-year-old mother of eight was jailed Sunday as authorities continued their investigation of the shooting death of her woodcutter husband.

She is Mrs. Rachel Kidrick, whose 59-year-old husband, Walter, was found dead in his home Saturday. He died of a .22 caliber bullet wound in the chest.

Jackson County Coroner Dr John H. Noble said the wound "was not self-inflicted."

Family Dispute

Dist. Atty. Carlyle Skolos, when asked if Mrs. Kidrick had shot her husband, said, "Why do you think I'm holding her."

One of the couple's children, Walter, Jr., was killed Tuesday in a highway crash, but the district attorney said the boy's death was not linked with the shooting. Walter, Jr., was buried Christmas eve, his eighteenth birthday.

Skolos said there had been a family dispute, and added, "but there was more to it than that."

Woman Hysterical

Mrs. Kidrick was hysterical when her husband's body was found. She could not be questioned and spent Saturday night in a hospital. She was released Sunday morning and taken to the Eau Claire county jail where she was held on an open charge. The Jackson county jail has been ruled unfit for holding women prisoners.

Skolos said she had signed a statement, but he declined to repeat what it said. The contents, the district attorney said, would be made public after an inquest scheduled for 2 p.m. today. Authorities did not plan to call Mrs. Kidrick as a witness.

Kidrick's body was found on a bed. A .22 caliber rifle was in a corner of the room. Police were called by Jack Guy, a tavernkeeper summoned to the house by a Kidrick daughter, Lyla, 11.

On Relief

Lyla and five other children, ranging in age from 2 months to 16 years, were turned over to the county welfare department. Another son, Robert, 19, is in the army in Korea.

Kidrick, when working, was employed as a pulp cutter in woods in this western Wisconsin area. Skolos said the family had been on relief most of the past 2 or 3 years.

British Newspapers See Nixon as Winner In Presidential Race

Observers Discuss Rockefeller Withdrawal, Paris Paper Critical

London —(AP)— British newspapers said today the withdrawal of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller from the presidential race makes Vice President Richard M. Nixon almost a certainty for the White House in 1960.

The Washington correspondent of the London Times rated Nixon's chances of becoming the next U.S. president as "pretty high." He wrote:

"Ever since his journey to Russia and Latin America, and in particular his verbal duel with (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev at the American exhibition in Moscow, he has been steadily overcoming the old distrust and unpopularity and moulding himself into the sort of man the people seem to want at the moment—one who will go into the lion's den without fear, who will talk to the Russians or anyone else but remain tough."

More than ever with Rockefeller's retirement, said the Daily Express, Nixon looks to seasoned observers like the next occupant of the White House.

"Nixon himself is today a mellowed and well-balanced man compared with the young fellow who rode on the Eisenhower coattails in 1952," the Express reported. "For the last seven years he has been the Republican spear-carrier because Ike did not relish local politics.

"He has acquitted himself with dignity, sagacity, and ruthless skill. He looms as a well-girded and dangerous opponent for the Democrats."

Nixon Better Target

"Has Nelson made Nixon a present of the White House" asked the Daily Mail's headline. Mail correspondent Don Iddon wrote from New York:

"With his pretty wife, Pat, his charming children, he makes a splendid picture of the family man ideally suited for the White House."

But Iddon added that Rockefeller's withdrawal was being hailed also by the Democrats "because the Democrats believe Nixon is a more vulnerable target than Rockefeller."

Telegraph Viewpoint

The conservative Daily Telegraph suggested Khrushchev might play a big role in deciding the next president of the United States. The Telegraph suggested that much of Nixon's appeal might be due to his identification with President Eisenhower's effort to break the ice of the cold war.

"This image could be devastatingly defaced if the first summit were to disappoint the larger hope of peace between East and West."

Such a development, said the paper, might even bring Rockefeller back into the picture despite his "definite and final" withdrawal.

Comment From Paris

"Nelson Rockefeller's decision not to be a candidate for the White House concerns not only the United States but the rest of the world as well," the liberal Gaullist newspaper Combat said today in Paris.

"The competition (for votes) will be all the more fascinating. . .and its reprercussions on international relations that much bigger," it said.

"There is no doubt that the strategic withdrawal of the governor of New York, a young man, active, admired, brilliant, and according to some, genial, is being accomplished under pressure from the Republican party. . . .

"He can wait until his friends and foes recognize they made a mistake," the paper stated.

Lawrence Richey, Former Hoover Secretary, Dies

Washington —(AP)— Lawrence Richey, 74, former secretary to Herbert Hoover, died Sunday night on a plane. He had been returning from New York, where he spent the Christmas holiday with the former president.

Richey

Born in Harrisburg, Pa., Richey began his government career in the secret service in 1901. From 1909 to 1912 he was on the editorial staff of Everybody's magazine. He became a special assistant to Hoover in the food administration and was Hoover's secretary during his administration, 1929-1933.

Richey was a sportsman and a life member of the Outdoor Writers of America.

In New York, Hoover said Richey was "a loyal friend and a devoted public servant; a man who had the respect of thousands of friends for his probity and his devotion to his country."

Mrs. Richey died in 1930. No close relatives were reported.

Two Trains Derail In West Virginia; Injures are Slight

Grafton, W. Va. —(AP)— Two Baltimore and Ohio railroad trains, one the eastbound National limited, derailed in north-central West Virginia Sunday within four hours and 75 miles of each other.

The 13-car National limited was en route from St. Louis to Baltimore with 326 passengers when both locomotives and six cars went off the track about 17 miles east of here. Ten passengers were treated at hospitals and released. Traffic was not interrupted.

Bob Crosbys Try To Patch Up Fight

Beverly Hills, Calif. — (AP)— The Bob Crosbys are together again, hopeful of saving their 21-year marriage.

"We had a very happy holiday," Crosby said last night. He told newsmen that he and his wife, June, dined together Christmas day and attended church Sunday.

The couple separated after an argument last month. Mrs. Crosby told police at the time that her husband came home in an angry mood and pushed her. She said Crosby was stabbed in the arm and chest when she grabbed a letter opener to defend herself.

Crosby's version was that his wife had fallen when he attempted to disarm her.

The couple has five children —aged 8 to 19.

American Youngsters Remember Beethoven's 189th Birthday

Bonn, Germany—(AP)—"Buy some flowers for good old Ludwig. . ."

So wrote Ray Fair of Fresno, Calif., in an envelope addressed simply: "Ludwig van Beethoven, Bonn, Germany."

Ray, announcing he was acting for the pupils in Miss Kulgren's English class, sent along $2 to commemorate the 189th birthday of the great German composer, on Dec. 16.

The letter found its way to the city authorities. The flowers were bought and laid at the base of the Beethoven memorial here in his birthplace.

Heart Pigments Clue In Age Investigation

Ultra Violet Ray Causes Color To Shine as Person Gets Old

Chicago —(AP)— Birthdays truly make your heart glow.

The older you get, the more your heart will actually shine or fluoresce if exposed to ultraviolet or black light.

It shines more because more "age pigment" accumulates in living cells of the heart. This pigment is a strange and perhaps very significant fact in the puzzle of why and how we grow old and die.

The pigment shines with a kind of orange light when the heart is inspected with ultroviolet light.

Investigate Pigments

The age pigment concentratig in human hearts, nerves, brains and muscles is being investigated for clues to aging.

The story is told in an exhibit today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Children up to about age 10 apparently have none of the age pigments in their hearts, autopsy studies show.

Increases With Age

But the amount increases in proportion to age thereafter, scientists of the gerontology branch, National Heart Institute, and Baltimore city hospitals find.

In persons of advanced age, perhaps 20 per cent of the heart is made up of the age pigment, which is relatively inactive and seemingly useless.

But it is replacing some of the contractile tissue of the heart cells. A big question is whether this is connected with the higher death rates that come with age.

Find Origin, Cause

The age pigment was first noticed many years ago. Main goals now are in trying to isolate and identify it, and determine what it means.

Where the pigment comes from and why are also still unknown. It doesn't seem to be correlated with heart failure, or any particular disease.

The research team includes Drs. Berhard Strehler, Albert S. Mildvan, Donard Mark (now in Peoria, Ill.), Daniel Hendley and Irwin Konigsberg.

Report May 16 As Summit Date

Big 3 Seem to Agree on Time; Propose to Reds

Paris —(AP)— The newspaper France-Soir said today the Western Big Three seem to have agreed to propose May 16 to the Soviet Union for the start of the Paris summit conference.

France - Soir said it had learned of the date from informed sources in Paris. Official sources here had no confirmation.

The May 16 date would be two days after the close of a London meeting of commonwealth prime ministers.

France, Britain and the United States originally proposed April 27 as the date for the summit conference. But Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev found it inconvenient. Calling the meeting then would interfere with his attendance at the Moscow May Day celebration. He suggested April 21 or May 4.

But there were complications in the West.

President Charles De Gaulle had planned to go to the United States and Canada for a week's trip starting around April 19. And the commonwealth prime ministers, including Britain's Harold Macmillan, were to meet in London May 3.

Cuba and the United States

There is plenty of evidence that Fidel Castro and other leaders in Cuba utter violent denunciations of the United States and its policies because it is politically popular to do so in Cuba. Occasionally there is a hint they do not believe much of what they say.

The situation is understandable because the Cuban people are accustomed to being whipped into fervor over some person or thing that can be blamed for oppressing them. Because they know little about the relationships between the two countries, it is easy enough for leaders to picture the United States as the oppressor bearing down upon the Cubans and therefore responsible for their economic difficulties.

However, when a situation arises which requires "handling" the Cuban leaders find a way to avoid seriously offending the United States. Such an instance was observable in the case of James Buchanan who was representing the Miami Herald as a correspondent in Cuba when he was arrested and charged with aiding foes of the Castro rebellion.

He was convicted of helping an American escapee from one of Castro's prisons. The escapee was Frank Austin Young of Miami who had been sentenced to 30 years in prison for leading an anti-Castro band. Buchanan, it was said, was arrested as he approached Young's hotel room with bandages for the fugitive's injuries.

His errand was no more than one newspaper man might be expected to do for another but the Cuban leader felt in need of showing American meddling in Cuban affairs and made the most of this chance.

The Miami Herald was certainly able to bring strong pressure upon the Cubans through the American representatives but little of this came to light. The Cubans were making propaganda and pressed on. Buchanan was convicted and sentenced to fourteen years in prison.

When the Cubans had thus demonstrated that they were standing up to the Americans they suspended the sentence and ordered Buchanan to leave the country, which he was happy to do.

Pretty clever Cubans. The Americans feel they were granted special consideration, the Cuban people are proud and happy that their leaders have booted an American out of the country. For the moment everybody is happy. But Americans would be well advised to stay out of Cuba until assurances have been given that they will be fairly treated.

The Last of the Blue and the Gray

The death of the Civil war veteran, Walter Washington Williams, 117 years old, was described by President Eisenhower as marking the end of an era. Said the President, "The hosts of blue and gray who were the chief actors in a great and tragic drama a century ago all have passed from the world stage. No longer are they blue and gray. All rest together as Americans in honored glory. An era has ended."

Williams served in the Civil war as a forage master in Gen. John B. Hood's Texas brigade. He was a private then but he was buried in a general's uniform which was a gift to him from the Sons of the Confederacy. His record in the war is not notable; in fact there are many who doubt that he ever served in the uniform at all, but neither his friends nor his detractors have proof of what actually happened. What is known to the people of the United States today and what was recognized by President Eisenhower is that Williams is the last of those who served or who claimed to have served in the armed forces on either side during the Civil war.

There can be no doubt but that the Civil war was the most disrupting event in the life of the United States. In the border states families were divided, brothers fought brothers and fathers fought sons. There were years of bitterness after the close of the war. This bitterness and hatred was a costly thing when considered in terms of the progress of the nation. Gradually, as the years passed, as the participants grew older and many of them passed from the scene, the wounds were slowly healed and the nation gradually and painfully became a united whole.

The passing of each veteran has in recent years become a matter of national interest. It also has served to remind us of the bitterness of the Civil war. But strangely enough the veterans themselves have, during the past decade or more, contributed much to the good feelings between the North and the South. The days of personal bitterness had long passed and it was not necessary for the last member of the forces to die for this better feeling between the North and the South to become the real and wonderful thing that it is. But as the President said, it is the passing of an era and we think now that the last remnants of any differences between North and South will continue their rapid disappearance. It is to be hoped that the division between North and South not only as participants in the Civil war but also on a political basis soon will pass from the minds of all of us and we will consider North and South merely as points on the compass.

How Chessman Keeps Going

Caryl Chessman, now 38 years old, who authored a best selling book during the 11 years he spent in the death row at San Quentin prison, has been given a new date for his execution. He was sentenced originally in 1948 at Los Angeles to die in the gas chamber when he was convicted on 17 counts of kidnaping, rape and robbery. He was known as the "Redlight" bandit because he used a red filter over his automobile spotlight to make it appear he was a police officer while preying on the couples in lovers' lanes. Only last week Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker signed the latest death warrant setting Feb. 19, 1960, as the date for his execution. It was the eighth time a date had been set during the period he has fought to escape capital punishment.

There is no doubt about his guilt. In the book which he wrote while in prison he reported he began a life of crime at the age of 15 by stealing food so that his parents would not have to accept relief. The book is in a sense an attempt to justify his criminal life by tales of misfortunes during his childhood. He declared that illness had made him stone deaf, thus ruining a possible career in music and left him a brooding child with a streak of cruelty. He told of a father who was a business failure and had twice attempted suicide and finally of the loss of the girl he loved whom he said was "stolen" from him by her parents who moved away to break up the romance.

When word came that a new date had been set for his execution he already was engaged in preparing new appeals. His appeals in the past have not won him a new trial but they have successively postponed the date of his execution.

Through his book and his separate appeals Chessman has won considerable sympathy from people across the country. On the other hand, many people are beginning to wonder if the courts aren't overdoing an effort to treat this man fairly. He has been convicted. He has been refused eight appeals for a new trial and now is engaged in preparing his ninth appeal.

Chessman has proved by his book and his efforts to avoid execution that he is much above average in intelligence. He is able to carry on this long battle because the court reporter who took the shorthand notes of his trial died before he had transcribed them. This leaves Chessman an opening to claim over and over again that the notes of the trial as transcribed by other reporters are not a true rendition of the original notes. Apparently this use of the trial's transcriptions can go on forever.

As the case progresses people are beginning to take sides and those who are opposed to capital punishment believe the sentence should be commuted to life imprisonment, and those who believe in enforcement of the law regardless are growing tired of the repeated delays. There is in fact no reason to take sides in the matter.

Chessman is entitled to do whatever he can to prolong his life so long as he proceeds in a legal manner. Evidently he has done that so far and apparently he is little disturbed about the future. Perhaps 10 years from now he still will be searching the record for some minute indication of an error in the transcription of the notes in the hopes of again postponing the day of his execution.

Assessment Inequities Cause of Tax Problems

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Like most of its predecessor study groups, the citizens revenue study commission is turning a critical eye to the administrative methods involved in the Wisconsin property tax system which accounts for about half of the huge flow of dollars required for the support of state and local government.

Wyngaard

Some of these members, in their zeal, appear to believe that they are discovering something new when they learn that the mechanics of property tax administration in the state leaves something to be desired.

In fact this indictment is one of the oldest in state politics, and after a while the observer is inclined to believe that it is a hopeless case. The facts are now so well known that there is reason to believe that the taxpayers want the present system, unfair and inefficient as it may be.

THE PROBLEM

In a fiscal system that relies so heavily upon judgment of value as the basis for taxation, the taxpayer ought to have some assurance in the local system of assessment today. A man may have a house of precisely the same value as his neighbor, in the same precinct, or even in the same block, and have a different value put upon it for tax purposes than his neighbor's.

To that degree he is paying more or less to the support of his city government than is his neighbor, in violation of the spirit and the letter of the law.

Some discrimination is probably inevitable. Making a valuation is a subjective act. Some assessors are more impressionable than others. I once called city hall to inquire about the basis of a personal assessment, and found that the assessor had been intrigued by the color of bathrom tile in a particular home. It was the only thing that he had noted upon his worksheet, as he confessed when he was asked.

But there are other weaknesses in the assessment system that are subject to correction, if the people of Wisconsin really want reform. The lessons of many years of legislative inactivity are not promising.

The central problem is the organization of technically qualified assessment staffs, which means in practical terms the assessment from a broader base, such as a county, or perhaps even on a statewide basis. Yet that runs too directly counter to the home rule principles, or prejudices, of Wisconsin to get a serious hearing in the legislature which is the only way reform can be achieved.

There also are political discriminations running through the assessment system which seem scandalous when examined objectively, but yet are so commonplace that they no longer get any notice. For the last couple of years the League of Wisconsin Municipalities has kept up a drum-fire of criticism of political exemptions voted by the legislature. How much it is heard may be suggested by the fact that each legislature continues gratifying more pressure groups with more exemptions.

Assessors themselves are not strangers to political considerations, although some of them may not be aware of the fact that they are betraying themselves. In the capital city of Madison, again, the assessor keeps a close eye upon all downtown business offices. The humblest office, containing a typewriter, a desk and a filing cabinet, will get on his rolls. If the taxpayer doesn't report voluntarily there arrives what the city hall calls a doomage assessment. Yet in every home in Madison, doubtless, there are taxable items that are ignored altogether, including the ubiquitous television set.

All these things are known, or should be known after the countless official reports on the subject. They are recited here not to make light of the interest of the new citizens study commission, but merely to suggest that to repeat them isn't especially useful or significant. What is needed is a political system that will do something about them and no recent legislature has provided much encouragement.

Protests UW Faculty Action On Student Loans and ROTC

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Has not the faculty of the University of Wisconsin already sufficiently besmirched the school and state through repeated activities designed to weaken our defenses, without now adding to this disreputable record, a demand to eliminate the loyalty oath on National Defense Educational loans, and proposing to weaken ROTC by making it voluntary?

What justification exists for demanding changes in the terms of these unsecured loans, for increasing their insecurity by adding to them a security risk, when the colleges put up only $1 to every $9 the government provides? Why erupt it when only one of 406 UW student beneficiaries balked at signing the oath, and only 12 of 1,381 colleges, where 120,000 students enjoy privileges of the loans, protest? It is reassuring to see Norwich and Temple universities, Huntington, Wheaton and Eastern Michigan college presidents asking congress to retain the oath.

Pres. Harmon of Norwich wisely said, "Academic freedom is essential, but it never should be used to sponsor individuals of questionable character, or who have demonstrated instability by refusing to disclaim membership in, or support of subversive groups."

The Ford Foundation got itself into a national jam when it issued indiscriminately scholarships without proper investigation. From New York in 1956 it sent to Madison one Henry Wortis. He lost no time organizing a branch of the notorious communist and subversive Labor Youth league. Like the current phony "Socialist club" it brought to the campus a parade of characters, all of whom have a long record of pro-communist activities, all of whom hid behind the Fifth amendment from 49 to 202 times when hauled before congressional committees investigating their loyalty. Wortis himself ducked behind the Fifth when investigated by congress.

Is it any surprise that our university has earned the "pink" label (which seems to be turning to a deep crimson) when (1) in 1949 nine faculty members protested the trial of 11 top communists after they had been indicted for advocating the forcible overthrow of the government; (2) fought the draft; (3) creation of an effective military reserve; (4) signed the communist-sponsored Stockholm Peace Appeal; (5) criticized U. S. landings in Lebanon; and (6) gave factulty sponsorship (via Profs. Karl Link and Aaron Idhe) to the LYL and Socialist club?

Is it not a sad commentary on the intelligence and judgment of a faculty, when it opposes assurance of loyalty by applicants for easy federal educational loans, yet find students, the direct beneficiaries, taking an opposing stand? By such action does not the faculty show semantic confusion, distorted mentality and "pseudo-intellectualism," as Regent Bassett claimed? Thus the students display better judgment, and more acute awareness of subversive efforts to undermine our security, than do their educators.

Repeated demonstrations of jaundiced vision, fuzzy thinking and warped mentality, evidenced by such exaggerated and unwarranted allegations, that assurance of loyalty by beneficiaries of National Defense education loans (with no other security), imposes "thought control ad restricts academic freedom," have caused taxpayers and alumni to lose confidence in their educators.

At Madison on Dec. 4 the Midwest College Young GOP, representing colleges from 13 states, voted for retention of the oath. At Milwaukee on Dec. 13 the YGOP from the UW-Madison, UW-Milwaukee, Carroll, Lawrence, Stevens Point and Platteville colleges favored retention of the oath. At Madison on Dec. 15, the chronically "pink" UW Student Senate refused to ask the faculty to seek elimination of the oath.

By making available to subversive groups, free use of facilities paid for by the taxpayer, and permitting such groups to operate openly on the campus, does not the faculty prove its apathy and indolence toward national security, clearly demonstrate reprehensible obliviousness to destructive elements, and prove inexcuseable inability to distinguish between genuine academic freedom and flagrant abuse thereof?

In view of this chronic "pink" attitude, is it any wonder that our legislators hesitate to increase faculty salaries, or that taxpayers and alumni show concern and worry over this alarming deterioration of educational leadership?

Obviously the sieve we have used for 100 years for "sifting and winnowing to find the truth," has become rusty and full of holes, and needs to be replaced by a new and more effective sieve, or put into saner and more competent hands!

President, UW Class of 1915.

Sees Need For Another High Bridge

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is almost unbelievable when you think, "way back when," it took 45 minutes for the interurban electric street car to go from downtown Appleton to Wisconsin avenue in Neenah.

I wondered last evening when it took me 15 minutes to drive from Foster street over the Memorial drive bridge, how much we have progressed. A traffic officer was speeding traffic at the Prospect street intersection.

It surely proves the necessity for another high-level bridge west of Memorial drive. Business is being driven OUT of Appleton instead of IN.

Santa Doesn't Travel by Plane And Sports Car

Editor, Post-Crescent:

As you probably know, Santa came in a sports car and plane this year. I want to ask you something. Do you think it is right to have him come in a plane and sports car? I don't think it is fair. The little children believe he comes with a sleigh and reindeer. I think they should have him come that way.

Appleton Men Buy City Gas Works

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 1, 1881.

We are pleased to learn that a party of Appleton gentlemen—Messrs. E. C. Goff, C. V. Farwell, B. T. and H. J. Rogers, Hutchinson and Wambold have made a purchase of the Appleton Gas Works, so that hereafter it will be essentially a home institution. This cannot fail to prove a paying investment to stock-holders, as under Mr. Farwell' admirable management the works are at present more valuable than those of Green Bay, Oshkosh or Fond du Lac. Parties in the latter city tried to secure the Appleton Gas Works.

25 YEARS AGO

Pope Pius warned that "the clamor of war spreads ever farther" and urged the world to pray and work for peace in a Christmas address to the "curia" of cardinals.

That day's last minute shopping would close the pre-Christmas buying rush at Appleton stores and would end what merchants considered the best holiday shopping period since days of boom prosperity.

Zion Lutheran male chorus gave a concert of Christmas carols at the city home and Riverview sanatorium. Members of the chorus are Ray Sager, Louis Waltman, Jr., Harvey Kuschel, first tenor; O. R. Tank and Al Kolberg, second tenor; Norman Belling, Herman Tock, and Kenneth Sager, first bass; and Robert Timm, Leo Zilske, and Earl Belling, second bass.

A niche in science's mythical hall of fame was reserved for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh that day when it became known that he had gathered the first proof that unseen organisms which caused plant disease could travel through the air across hundreds of miles of ocean.

What Others are Saying

Says Veterans Deserve Free Ride From Labor Unions

From Voice of the People, Chicago Tribune

Joliet, Ill. — Labor union officers and labor publications use doubtful arguments to justify their policy of compulsory union membership and their claim that unions are entitled to the support of all workers.

One phony argument is that unions are responsible for better wages and working conditions for all workers. Unions deserve credit for many, but by no means all, such improvements.

Another argument is that nonunion workers are getting a free ride in better wages and working conditions secured by unions and paid for by union members. Every one derives some benefit from the work and sacrifices of other people and organizations. Churches, fraternities, civic and veterans' organizations contribute to the welfare of others and are proud to do so. Labor unions should do likewise.

Consider the free ride many union officers and members received from the sacrifices of veterans who were attempting to protect liberty and democracy while the union officers were safe and drawing big salaries. John L. Lewis pulled a strike of coal miners. Other union officers were pulling strikes and selling work permits at military installations. I doubt that Jim Hoffa, Joey Glimco, Larry Fay and many other union officers were even in military service. Veterans deserve a free ride from labor unions. I favor a law exempting veterans from compulsory union membership.

Broadway Unmusicals Setting New Trend

'Take Me Along' Draws Big Raves For Acting, but Singers Lacking

BY HUGH MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Perhaps the time has come to turn Broadway musicals back to the singers.

Sure, Rex Harrison charmed and chattered his way through "My Fair Lady" without the slightest pretense at singing, and Robert Preston made a marvelously unmusical "Music Man," but how far can the trend go?

"Take Me Along," the new Jackie Gleason musical, shows just how far. There isn't a singer in the whole show. Gleason doesn't come close. Walter Pidgeon doesn't even try. Robert Morse and Eileen Herlie manage to carry a tune from one side of the stage to the other, but it's a precarious passage.

All four principals won raves from the drama critics on opening night for their acting abilities, but their lack of musical talent renders the RCA Victor original cast album a major disappointment.

Lyrics Excellent

And more's the pity because Robert Merrill's music and lyrics often hold great promise. Songs like "Take Me Along," "I Get Embarrassed" and "Promise Me a Rose" have lilt and melody and charm.

They cry out for a singer—just one would do, but two would bolster the illusion that this is supposed to be a musical — but there's not a voice in the whole shouting match.

The fireside listener, who can't share the joy of the Gleason-Pidgeon soft shoe act that breaks up the show, is left with nothing but a very pleasant overture and 38 minutes of unsung songs by unsinging singers.

For an example of what real voices can do with the score of a Broadway musical, listen to the "Paint Your Wagon" songs on RCA Victor's "An Evening with Lerner and Loewe."

When "Paint Your Wagon" opened on Broadway in 1951, it was something less than a hit. In fact, if the truth must be known, it was a flop. Now it becomes apparent that lack of singers must have been the reason for its demise.

Entrusted to talents like Jan Peerce, Robert Merrill and Jane Powell, "Paint Your Wagon" emerges as a major musical rediscovery, a worthy cohort of "Brigadoon," "My Fair Lady" and "Gigi," all by the same composers.

Written for Singers

Songs like "They Call the Wind Maria," "I Talk to the Trees" and "I Was Born Under a Wandering Star" were written to be sung by singers, not mouthed by actors.

Merrill, Peerce and Co. are to be commended for rescuing this enchanting show from oblivion.

The same group, with orchestra and chorus under the direction of Johnny Green and with comedian Phil Harris handling the patter songs, does a fine job on the other Lerner and Loewe classics: "Brigadoon," "My Fair Lady" and "Gigi."

MGM Records also salutes these two major composers with a one-disc album called "The Musical World of Lerner and Loewe," an instrumental version of their biggest hits by something called "The Starlight Symphony Orchestra." It's tuneful and tender, but not in a class with the 2-disc Victor album.

Lawrence Says

Deciding Point Of Steel Strike Is Labor's Vote

Expect Heavy Margin Against Industry's Offer

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Federal mediators may come and go, the management representatives and steel union leaders may be called into continuous sessions, but neither side has the slightest intention of giving in at this time.

Lawrence

The future procedure is plainly marked out. The union leaders do not say so, but actually they want a "political" settlement. This is a governmentally-imposed agreement. Union strategists think the steel managers will be compelled to accept it.

This has happened many times before. The companies will not, of course, accept responsibility for an inflationary settlement. If, however, the government puts them in a situation where they cannot do anything but yield, they will have to agree to such a settlement and then later raise prices.

The unions feel their influence is such the administration in power, whether it is Republican or Democratic, must conform to the pattern.

Compulsory Settlement

The argument is made that congress will be urged to pass legislation providing for compulsory arbitration if there is no settlement. This means the breakdown of the collective bargaining tradition and the introduction of more and more compulsion in labor - management disputes. This could prove advantageous to the labor unions because of the enormous political influence that they usually exert.

Management has been virtually forced to yield to the demands of the unions through governmental intervention. In the current situation President Eisenhower has stood up well against the pressure for a "political" settlement. Inside his official family nevertheless are those who have been urging him to change his attitude. It is an open question how long Mr. Eisenhower will be able to stand firm.

If the labor union leaders were convinced that management would under no circumstances yield, there would be a quick settlement. The differences between the two sides are byw no means irreconcilable.

This year's contract isn't half as important as the precedent to be created by negotiation. The work rules are the real stumbling block. The steel managers feel they must disabuse the labor leaders of the idea that a work rule once adopted cannot be changed thereafter, and that clauses once agreed upon in the past are not subject to collective bargaining in subsequent years.

Labor's Vote Awaited

The principle involved is important to both sides. Machinery to bring about a settlement is available, but the unions have taken the position that they will not yield at all, and that management cannot be granted the right to negotiate changes in the work rules.

The next step is the vote to be taken next month under the auspices of the national labor relations board. The steel companies are very anxious to see what the men will say by their votes. On the ballot will appear a summary of the companies' latest offer and the men will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on it.

It is expected that the union position will be upheld by a substantial margin. The important point will be the size of the opposition. It would seem that this will be higher than the 7 per cent noted in the postcard poll just taken by the unions, because the actual campaign by the companies to state their case has not yet begun.

When the voting is over and the steel workers presumably have rejected the final offer by the companies, a decision will have to be reached by the unions whether to keep the men at work as the 80-day injunction expires, or whether to continue to let them work while negotiations are resumed.

But even while this happens, the pressure from influential members of congress will begin, and the chances are in the end that if a "political" settlement is made, it will deal a body-blow to the whole crusade against inflation. The companies will then feel justified in raising their prices. This would be a disappointment to all those who believe in a stabilized economy. It will be a demonstration of the power of unions to force inflation on the American people.

" 'Twas the Night Before Christmas. . ." could be the story the children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loescher, 405 E. Circle street, are hearing—only the reader is just a toy. The little bear's hands move and it rocks while its eyes light up. Left to right are Billy, 5, Greg, 8, Timmy, 2, and Mary, 11.

On the House

Charlie Faces Christmas Strain With Courage and Wrong Guessing

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Because Christmas came and because I am a father, we managed to get through the periods of preparation but the effort was prodigious and the strain was great.

House

It is my custom to buy a Christmas tree which fits "exactly" and this is responsible for my annual purchase of a tree which is wrong. I wander over the grounds of those who dispense Christmas trees and I study each one with a critical eye.

"This," I will say, "is too thin." And "that tree is too sparsely boughed." And "the tree here is too broad for our modest home." and "this tree is too short." and "this tree is too tall."

I invariably select one which, in my expert knowledge and years of experience, is exactly right. But the tree which I finally select is a tree which grows a minimum of two feet from the time I buy it until the time I put it up. I have never bought a tree which was not two feet too tall.

It becomes necessary then to take some off the bottom and some off the top. I employ my 10 thumbs as skillfully as I can. And soon the tree is up. Crooked, though!

Get Late Start

The children are in bed, of course, but their excitement prevents them from slumbering until at least midnight. Thus our preparations commence at the witching hour.

The tree is trimmed in due time. Then there is the matter of (1) remembering where we hid the toys and (2) putting them together.

People who write directions for putting toys together have one thing in common: They have never put toys together.

"Remove the sinsibar from the left quadrant of the main gears," the directions will say to my horror. I simply and plainly do not understand what these things are. But I struggle to comprehend.

"Fit pin," directions will say, "into proper hole."

Trouble, Trouble

I do not know which is the proper hole, for there are always 27 or 28 holes and none of them seem to be proper and they each look like the other ones and besides, the pin is one of many. It won't fit any hole in the whole shebang.

I sometimes find it necessary to nail the thing together and hope that one of the children will detect the error of my ways and reconstruct the monster into some semblance of order.

One of the presents this year was an air rifle with a telescopic sight. The terrible beast who wrote the instructions will begin like this: "You can easily tell if your gun is drilled for the purpose."

Hopeless Case

Well, now. . .what purpose? Then you go on with the instructions in the hope that the man will tell you. He never does. But he goes on to say that I should check my receiver. First of all I do not know what a receiver is, except on a telephone and on a baseball team, and second I do not know how to check it, nor for what.

But the writer writes glibly of the template, the side stock, the forearm screw and rotating pencils. Then he tells me to line up the template, whatever it is, with the receiver, whatever it is, and match up the holes.

Match up what holes? There are no holes!

Wrong Model

Then I re-read and discover that I am putting the wrong model together with the right instructions. I start again.

He writes of banclok nuts, of windage scress, screws, of verticals and adjusting knobs. He prates glibly about flanges and mounting plates and then he says: "Place the cover plate on the outside of the opposite flange by slipping the pins into the matching holes on the flange."

I haven't found the cover plate and I don't think there is one. I can't understand what he means by opposite flange. There are no pins. And the holes don't match.

But never mind. This is the age of technocracy. It is just that I am more stupid than any customer the company ever had. But I am able to get the thing together (thanks to glue, cellulose tape, nails, screws and the advice of Mrs. House who is skillful with a bobby pin.) The thing works fine except that when you shoot at a target 15 feet away, you have to allow about three feet of "drift." The way you do that is to set up your target and measure exactly three feet to the left. At this place, mark an "X" on the wall. Aim at the "X" and pull the trigger and you have a bull's eye — on the target.

It's that simple. You can surmount any difficulty if you just use your head a little bit. (I used mine for butting against the wall.)

Forget the Rules

Never mind the technical instructions for assembling a railroad train or a bicycle or a world globe or any other toy manufactured by fiends who have no idea how ignorant I am.

The strange thing about it is that I am pretty handy around the house. One notable example of my skill is that I fixed a radio that stopped working, and I didn't have any trouble with that problem. (I placed it carefully on the floor and I kicked it. It works fine.)

Well, at 5:15 a.m. I had everything more or less put together. At 5:30 the kids got me out of bed and wanted to know if it was now.

It had to be and I had to be there to see their joy. It was hard to keep my eyes open. It was difficult to be happy.

Prince Charles' 1st Public Speech Fills Queen With Emotion

West Newton, England —(AP) — Queen Elizabeth II bowed her head with emotion Sunday night as her son and heir stood at the altar of a 15th century church and made the first official public utterance of his royal life.

The voice of 11-year-old Prince Charles was clear and composed as he read one of four lessons from the Bible at the annual Service of Nine Carols in the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, in this village near the royal family's Sandringham estate.

While his mother, his father, his sister, 9-year-old Princess Anne and other royal relatives looked on, Charles held the Bible firmly and read the passage from St. Matthew about the coming of the three wise men to Bethlehem.

Queen Elizabeth, who is expecting her third child early next year, seemed close to tears as the young prince spoke.

Lebanon Hopes to Become International Playground

Beirut, Lebanon —(AP)— A new $4 million casino is part of a Lebanese effort to make this little Arab country an international playground.

The country is well endowed with natural attractions. Picturesque mountains rise from the blue Mediterranean. Lebanon has the best hotels and night life in the Middle East. The climate any time of the year compares favorably with Europe at its best.

The Casino du Liban, one of the world's largest, shows the optimism Lebanese have in their country's economy. Barely 15 months ago this country was in virtual civil war; business was brought to a standstill for five months. Today all that is forgotten, and Lebanon is riding on a wave of prosperity.

Lebanese businessmen who built the casino are spending lavishly. Jean Beauchet of Paris trained a special ballet for three months in the Moulin Rouge before bringing the girls to Lebanon.

Gambling Attraction

The 16-man Orchestra da Silva, well-known in Cannes and Monte Carlo, is booked to play while guests dance. Special dishes are prepared by Raymond Roulet, one of the finest chefs in France.

The big attraction is the 3,000 square-foot gambling hall, with its 22 tables for roulette and baccarat.

There are two main buildings, one housing four restaurants, the gambling rooms and two music halls, and the other a 1,200-seat theater. Between and around them is a network of courtyards and gardens where fountains illuminated by colored lights shoot 20 feet into the air.

Around one of these gardens, enterprising Lebanese have opened shop selling perfumes, furs and jewelry. A Lebanese bank is opening a branch on the casino premises "for convenience in depositing your winnings."

From the raised terrace outside the gambling room, you look across a bay to Beirut. High above, medieval monasteries sit on mountain tops. On nearby slopes shepherds follow their flocks of sheep and goats among olive and cedar trees.

Directly below is an old Roman bridge, and a few feet beyond is the Mediterranean, the "Bay of the Gods", where pagan deities lived it up many centuries ago.

Many Servicemen in Trail Walkers Club

Clifton, N. J. —(AP)— Many of the 200 hiking enthusiasts in the Woodland Trail Walkers club are ex-servicemen who once swore off long treks.

"But once they tried it, without the 'must' involved in their army marches, they found pleasure in getting to places they wouldn't otherwise have seen," says Miss Catherine Servas, club secretary.

Wreckage in the Roadway on Highway 45 about three miles north of New London marked the site of a headon collision which caused the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pecard, 1515 S. Pearl street, New London at 11:50 a.m. Saturday. Their three orphaned children were injured in the accident.

shock, and Joseph, 2, had facial cuts.

According to George Meating and Louis Adams of the Waupaca county patrol, evidence indicated Pecard had attempted to pass a car when he saw a car driven by Edward Wilka, 20, Clintonville, approaching out of the fog.

Pecard apparently pulled farther to the left, the patrolman said, attempting to pass on Wilka's right when the cars collided headon.

Wilka, alone in his car, suffered severe facial and scalp cuts and a shoulder injury. He was taken to New London Community hospital, where his condition was reported as good.

Following closely behind Wilka was a car driven by Kenneth Lambie. 22, also of Clintonville. Unable to stop, Lambie crashed into the Wilka and Pecard cars.

Lambie escaped injury, but Miss Nancy Asherbrenner, 19, Leopolis, a passenger, was treated for back injuries at Clintonville Community hospital.

Pecard Obituaries

Pecard was born Nov. 11, 1925, in Suring. He attended school in Oconto Falls and worked at Green Bay, and Fond du Lac before coming to New London about four years ago where he was employed as stock clerk at the Volz garage.

Mrs. Pecard was born March 9, 1931, in Chicago. She was a registered nurse, having graduated from the St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing, Green Bay. She was employed part-time as a nurse at the New London Community hospital.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Francis Salanus Catholic church, Gresham, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Gaffney Funeral home, Gresham, where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today.

In addition to the children, Pecard is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Pecard, Suring; three brothers, Emery, Green Bay, James, Marinette, and Howard, Milwaukee; and three sisters, Mrs. Herbert Hansen, Suring, Mrs. Victor Steffeck, Lena, and Mrs. Glen Cowan, Milwaukee.

In addition to the children, Mrs. Pecard is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Miller, Bowler; two brothers, Myron, Jr., of Wausau, and Marshall, Bowler; and two sisters, Mrs. Ivan Wadzinski of Madison, and Miss Juanita Miller, Bowler.

crash orphans 3-36 1st edition

A heart attack was blamed for the death of a Darlington farmer, Leo McGuire, 65, whose body was found Saturday in his pickup truck in a small creek beside LaFayette County Trunk K about a half mile from his home. The body was found by neighbors attracted by the continuous sounding of the truck horn.

State Victims

The other traffic victims included:

Clarence Connell, 69, Germantown, was killed in a 2-car crash Sunday at an intersection of Highway 41 and N. Water street in Menomonee Falls. The area was fog-bound.

An air force man home on leave died in a Walworth county crash earlier Sunday that also happened when fog limited vision.

Ronnie Totten, 19, Muscoda, the air force member, was killed when his car and a milk tank truck collided on County Trunk B near Walworth and the wrecked vehicles burst into flames.

Charles Henkel, 27, of Caledonia, who was dressed in a Santa Claus suit, was killed Thursday night as his auto overturned on Highway 38 in Racine county.

Mother of Rocket Expert Von Braun Dies in Germany

Munich, Germany — (AP) — Baroness Emmy von Braun, 73-year-old mother of U. S. rocket scientist Wernher von Braun, died in a hospital here Sunday night after an operation.

The nature of the operation was not announced.

Her husband, Baron Magnus von Braun, and her son Sigismund, who is chief protocol of the West German government, were at her bedside.

Wernher von Braun, a top V-2 rocket scientist under Hitler during World war II, went to the United States after the German surrender. The 47-year-old scientist became an American citizen in 1955 and is director of the development and operations division of the army Ballistic Missile agency at Redstone arsenal, in Huntsville, Ala.

Disability Claims Should be Filed Soon as Possible

The word "freeze," usually associated with the rigors of winter or the preservation of foodstuffs, has taken on another significant meaning for the nation's disabled workers, according to Frank Donnick, district social security manager. He urged workers under the system to know and take advantage of their rights in the event they are severely disabled.

Monthly disability benefits can be paid only to eligible disabled workers who are at least 50 years old. He said this seems to have discouraged some disabled workers under 50 from filing a claim to establish their disability. They apparently feel little if anything is to be gained from filing while they are under 50. "Nothing can be farther from the real facts," Donnick said.

The only way an under-50 disabled worker can be assured of full benefits in the future is by filing an application to establish a period of disability. When this is done, his social security earnings account will be frozen as of the beginning of his disability, and monthly benefits later on will also be completed as of the beginning of his disability.

Severely disabled workers, whether under or over 50, have a big stake in social securiyt. It's every bit as important for under-50 disabled workers to contact their social security office and file for the disability freeze as it is for over-50 work rs to file for cash benefits. Only by so doing can social security work in the best interests of disabled workers and their families, Donnick said.

Basic Split Over NATO Simply Changes in Europe, Soviet Policy

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

Before the two sets of meetings in Paris, NATO and the western big four, it was felt that the acid test would be whether there was an agreement to invite the Soviet Union to a summit meeting in the spring. Not to have reached such an agreement would have meant a deep and dangerous division within the western alliance. In point of fact, however, the western allies have done a lot better than this critical minimum. They have agreed not only on a summit meeting in April but on a series of summit meetings to follow it. This is a very big decision and an important achievement.

Lippmann

For it transforms the summit meeting. Instead of its being a confrontation of east and west in a kind of diplomatic Armageddon where all is to be won or all is to be lost, the meeting in April is to become one link in a continuing chain of negotiations. This takes the curse off summit meetings. The reason why so many of us have dreaded them is that they raised too great expectations and that the stakes were too high.

The conflict between east and west cannot be ended by a settlement. It can only be outlived through a long and very cautious and gradual process of accommodation. This is the sense of the proposal to have a series of summit meetings, to keep on talking and negotiating, trying for small gains and avoiding grandiose showdowns. It is a sign that the alliance has matured and is seeing things as they are.

Position Changes

The meetings in Paris have made it even plainer than it was before how much the times have changed since NATO was founded 10 years ago and Gen. Eisenhower was its supreme commander. The United States is no longer the undisputed leader of the western alliance. We are, of course, listened to respectfully, but our views do not prevail because we express them. Indeed, on the European continent France and Germany have constituted themselves a challenging and countervailing force to the two English - speaking powers. If and when and as accommodations are reached with the Soviet Union, it is to be they and not we who will have the last word.

The friction within NATO on the question of military command, and the divergence among the western big four about Berlin, originates in the Franco-German intention to speak for Europe, and in terms of power to become Europe—a new great power among the great powers of the world.

This is what is behind the dispute about integration in NATO. It is, we must realize, a strange dispute for this country to be involved in. For while Den. DeGalle does not want to integrate his tactical air force under American command, we have stoutly refused to integrate our strategic air force under any unified command. What Gen. De Gaulle is doing is to gather together his command, forces which will underwrite the influence of the rising new European world power.

This also is what is behind the Franco-German insistence that the allies should stand pat on the status quo in Berlin. They see that any new arrangement about West Berlin is bound to recognize de facto the East German state and the continuing existence of two German states. While Gen. De Galle is not in favor of German reunificiation and prefers two German states to one German state, Dr. Adenauer is facing German elections in which he must stand for German reunification. And as Dr. Adenauer is indispensable to the consummation of the Franco-German political marriage, the French believe that there must be no serious negotiations about Berlin at the coming summit meetings.

High Level Politics

Quite evidently the French and the Germans, severally and jointly do not subscribe to the whole official American doctrine about NATO. For here is Gen. De Gaulle pursuing a policy to dissolve the existing command structure of NATO with an American at the top. And there is Dr. Adenauer proposing to defy the Soviet Union as toughly as possible. On the face of it Gen. De Gaulle and Dr. Adenauer are making NATO weaker while they deal more toughly with the Soviet Union.

How can they? They are both men of extraordinary ability, and Gen. De Gaulle may well be said, now that Churchill is retired, to be in the field of high strategy and high politics the greatest living genius in the western world. Why then do France and Germany seem to be going in opposite directions at the same time? The answer to the riddle can be found, I would suppose, by looking at the components of the complex which we call NATO.

There is, first of all, the treaty of alliance which commits each of the nations to come to the defense of any of the others. There is no dispute about this. In fact, our European allies like to have us swear ever so often that we really mean it.

There is, then, the United States strategic air force, which is not integrated with NATO. It is, however, the sword while the NATO military establishment is the shield. Whatever may be forecast about the missile gap in the years to come, French and German policy today is based squarely on the conviction that a balance of power exists as between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., and that the Soviet Union cannot use force around Berlin.

Then there is the shield, the ground forces, the air forces, and the naval forces, which are under the over-all command of Gen. Norstad. This is the component of NATO which Gen. de Gaulle is inclined not to take too seriously. Presumably, provided only that American troops remain in West Berlin and in West Germany as hostages in case of attack, the shield establishment is not of primary importance. What matters is the sword of the strategic air force.

This estimate of the shield is reflected in the behavior of the European members of NATO. The French army is in Algeria. The Germans have made haste slowly with their army. The smaller countries are fairly well relaxed. Why? Because they do not believe that the Russians will invade Europe and they are glad to hear Mr. K. keep on saying so. At the same time they are very sure that the NATO establishment would not be much good if the Russians did invade Europe. What they are relying upon is the over-all balance of power and the hope that under Mr. K. the U.S.S.R. has taken a decisive turn away from Stalin.

Conceivably they are right. In any event, there is no use our acting as if what we thought 10 years ago when we were the sole protectors of Western Europe is now and always the unchangeable truth.

Parties See Gains as Rocky Withdraws

Nothing now sighted on the political horizon can prevent a first ballot nomination for Nixon. The only suspense lies in the choice of his running mate.

If political custom holds, Nixon and not the delegates will make that choice. He said yesterday, as he left in high good humor to attend the Colts-Giants football game in Baltimore, that it was too early to talk about the 1960 ticket.

Know Nixon Running

The Republican national chairman, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, praised Rockefeller for "so clearly stating his position." Morton said he felt Nixon was well ahead in the GOP presidential nomination picture.

When they meet in Los Angeles July 11, the Democrats will be laboring under no uncertainty as to whom they must prepare to fight. It will be Nixon, a versatile campaigner who can take a high-level stance or slug it out with the roughest.

Just how this will affect the Democrats' choice of a nominee is up in the air. Backers of each of the actual or potential candidates—they include Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass), Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn), Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo), Johnson, California's Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and Adlai E. Stevenson—can be counted upon to argue that their man is just the one to beat Nixon.

Strong in Polls

Some of the Democratic talk that Nixon would be easier to defeat than Rockefeller has died down since polls showed Nixon faring well. Some of it persists. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1956, told a TV audience yesterday that Democrats will be more united against Nixon than they would have been against Rockefeller, whom Kefauver described as more liberal.

Kefauver said Rockefeller's withdrawal shows "old guard Republicans are in complete control."

Nixon kept his own counsel. He was said to be astounded by Rockefeller's announcement Saturday in Albany, and at first would not believe it.

Nixon praised Rockefeller and said he still would play at key role in the Republican party. He said the Rockefeller announcement would not speed up his own plans for a formal announcement of his own that he will seek the nomination. He refused to talk about possible running mates.

President Silent

President Eisenhower made no comment.

A thread that ran through the comment from Republican leaders across the country was the hope that Rockefeller would reconsider and run for vice president on the Nixon ticket, but the New York governor turned that idea down.

Democratic comment generally took the line that conservatives control the Republican party, that Rockefeller appeared too liberal for them.

Adlai Stevenson, twice Democratic presidential candidate, said "his withdrawal leaves his party no free choice for president. He often seems like a thoughtful and sincere liberal, and for the sake of the country I regret that his views found so little encouragement in his party."

Backers Disappointed

Rockefeller's backers expressed their disappointment. New York State GOP Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said it was bad news to millions of people he said "are firmly convinced that Nelson Rockefeller can provide leadership with the vision, decision and action so essential to our nation in the fateful years ahead.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), another Rockefeller supporter, said he has a "tremendous future ahead of him" and added, "I hope that he will still see his way clear to take the vice presidential nomination, which would make a sure-winning ticket."

In this he agreed with a Nixon backer, New Jersey GOP Chairman Carl Erdman. "Our opinion polls," Erdman said, "have shown Nixon is preferred by New Jersey Republicans over Rockefeller 76 per cent to 20 per cent. Nixon for president and Rockefeller for vice president would be an absolutely unbeatable team.

Sees Democratic Victory

Other comment:

Former Federal Judge Albert Levitt of Hancock, N. H., who started Rockefeller for president movement in New Hampshire: "The nomination of Nixon by the Republicans in July will mean a victory for the Democratic party. Most of the voters who wanted Rockefeller will not work for the election of Nixon."

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa), former Republican national chairman: "It shows the Republicans can compose their differences and move as a united party."

Gov. Christopher Del Sesto of Rhode Island, a Republican: "I'm generally opposed to an elected official not serving out his term of office . . . I think Rockefeller ought to devote another three years to New York state."

Meade Alcorn, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut and former national chairman: "I predict there will be an overwhelming demand at the national convention that Rockefeller accept the vice presidential nomination."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH): "Rockefeller is to be commended for placing obligation to citizens of New York above whatever personal ambition he might have."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY): "It will be good news for all Republicans that Gov. Rockefeller will continue to participate in national Republican policy development notwithstanding that he will not be a candidate."

Wisconsin Republican Chairman Claude Jasper termed Rockefeller's annoncement "a wise decision."

"It will work to the advantage of the entire Republican party," Jasper said.

"I was impressed with the warmth and personality of Rockefeller," the state chairman said, "But felt he could not reflect it enough to become a substantial contender for the presidency."

The Republican national committee woman, Mrs. Byron D. Ising, said at Oshkosh that she thought Rockefeller had made "a very wise decision." She added that she felt that "we are fortunate to have him as governor of so great a state as New York, and that is an excellent place for him."

The guessing about Nixon's running mate covered a wide scope. Names mentioned included:

Sec. of Labor James P. Mitchell;, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican leader in the house; Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers; Morton; Sec. of the Interior Fred A. Seaton; Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (NY), Sen. Hugh Scott (Pa) and Govs. Cecil Underwood (W.Va), Christopher Del Sesto (R.I.) and William Quinn (Hawaii).

If the usual geographical considerations are given weight, they would rule out such men as Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon. It would be highly unusual for a party to choose both its nominees from the far west.

If the Democrats should nominate Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, for the presidency, the Republicans might turn to Mitchell for "balance." Mitchell is a Roman Catholic from New Jersey.

A Would-be Rescuer Peers into an auto for the bodies of two men lost Saturday in roaring torrents of normally dry Queen creek at Superior, Ariz. Deputies said the two victims drove past warning flares on a flooded city street. They recovered the body of Manuel R. Denogean, 36, but still sought that of Frank R. Zepeda, 48. Both lived at Superior, about 40 miles southeast of Phoenix.

kept busy disconnecting electrical outlets and pulling fuses. They responded to 27 calls during a period from 10:25 p. m. Sunday to 8 a. m. today.

Opens Schools

A joint civil defense and Red Cross committee opened Wilson and Hoover schools to receive any persons seeking warmth after homes were without heat or power.

Main highways in the county are open, Clarence J. Brownson, highway commissioner, said. The Highway 10 underpass just west of the city has one foot of water in it, he said. Road crews are pumping it out. Water flooded roads north of Seymour. As rain stops, Brownson said, roads will be clear with no trouble spots.

Street employes in Appleton have been busy working on clogged sewer lines. A basement wall of a new home at 1637 N. Viola street caved in from back pressure of water.

No Electric Trouble

The city has had no report of electrical problems, the Wisconsin Michigan Power company said. Five customers were without power when a transformer was soaked with water and again when a power line shorted out. All were back in service by 4 a. m. today, the spokesman said.

Creeks and streams in several Brown county areas were overflowing their banks today from a combination of rain and runoff from last week's 8-inch snowfall.

Among streams which normally are placid but which are near rampage are Dutchman's creek in the town of Ashwaubenon near the National Railroad museum, in the town of Hobart, in Preble and Bellevue and old Highway 57 northeast of the city.

Flood Stage

Although Dutchman's creek was at flood stage, the water was not expected to interfere with placing of the 501-ton Santa Fe locomotive in the railroad museum this afternoon.

County crews were planning to dynamite some streams to clear them of ice, especially in the Highway 57 area south of De Pere.

Snow and high winds lashed the northern part of Wisconsin today while the soggy southern half spent the weekend watching traces of last week's big snows float away in the rain.

A new snowstorm whipped into the north Sunday night, riding a wind that hit gusts of 78 miles per hour in the city of Superior.

Wires Downed

The wind pulled down wires and power poles, ripped signs and piled up snowdrifts in the Superior area. It shattered a window in the Roman Catholic cathedral of Christ the King and damaged the organ.

Brule in Douglas County reported 4 to 5 inches of new snow up to 7 a.m. today, with a total snow cover of 7 inches.

Heavy snow also was falling in the Rhinelander area and in Lincoln County this morning. Heavy drifting and blowing snow is expected in northern Wisconsin today and tonight.

Wausau had a mixture of rain and snow.

Highways in the north central and northwest portions of the state were reported slippery.

Unseasonal Rain Floods Twin City Area; Neenah Hit

Civil Defense, Red Cross Disaster Units Set for Emergency Action

Neenah — Many Twin City residents were faced with the post-Christmas task of cleaning flooded basements after the heavy rains Sunday night and early this morning. In Neenah the civil defense and Red Cross disaster units prepared for action.

Official measurement at the government locks in Menasha showed 2.09 inches of rainfall from Friday through Sunday. In addition last week's snowfall of about 8 inches was 47 per cent moisture. Most of that snow melted away over the weekend, adding to the flood condition.

Some residents found that water rose to a point where heating systems had to be shut off. Some homes were without electrical power.

Calls Come In

Neenah was hardest hit. Calls started pouring in about 10:30 p.m. Sunday at the fire department as residents asked for assistance in pumping out basements or taking care of heating systems which were being endangered by rising water.

Over 40 calls had been received at the Neenah station by 10 a.m. today. Firemen set up a pump lift at Cleveland and Reddin streets at 10:27 p.m. Sunday and it was still being operated this morning. The Reddin street area south of Winneconne avene was one of the hardest hit. Firemen were pumping water out of the sanitary sewer into the storm sewer.

The joint Civil Defense and Red Cross disaster committee swung into operation early this morning. Hoover and Wilson schools in Neenah were opened at 5 a.m. today to aid any families forced to leave their homes because of heating system and power failures.

In most cases, however, those residents who were forced to flee their homes took refuge with relatives or neighbors. Up to 9 a.m. no one had appeared at either school to take advantage of the services being offered.

Treasurer Sends Notices to 4,654 City Property Owners

Menasha — Tax bills requiring payment of $1,430,966 from 4,654 Menasha city accounts were mailed Saturday by the city treasurer's office.

The bills, prepared by Treasurer Frank Beck and his deputy, Wilbert W. Edwards, have gone to 4,277 real estate parcel owners and 377 personal property holders.

They are based on $34 per $1,000 assessed valuation, the rate set Dec. 1 by the city council for 1959 taxes, payable in 1960. The new tax rate is $2 above that of 1958.

Of the property tax levy, totaling $1,408,954, 40.47 per cent will go for general government use, 43.71 per cent for schools, including payments on two bond issues, 13.34 per cent for county purposes and 2.48 per cent for state taxes.

$22,007 Special Charges

Besides real and personal property tax assessments, there are special charges totaling $22,007.

Taxes charged on the bills are payable from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Fridays except on holidays.

Any tax less than $20 must be paid in full. Any taxpayer wanting to pay in full must do so by Feb. 29. If a taxpayer wants to pay in installments, he may pay 25 per cent of the general tax due plus all special charges by Jan. 31. His next 25 per cent payments will be due March 31, May 31 and July 31.

If not paid by deadlines, penalties of .8 per cent per month will be added, as required by statutes.

Pleads Guilty of Driving Too Fast

Menasha — Wayne Cody, 18 309 Quarry lane, Neenah, today pleaded guilty of driving too fast for conditions and was fined $10 and costs by Police Justice Arthur J. Ales.

Cody was arrested about 11:45 p.m. Saturday after his car struck the parked car of Francine M. Langlais, 19, route 2, Menasha, on Plank road. Police said Cody was driving in his extreme left lane.

Fire Damages Home In Town of Oshkosh

Oshkosh — Fire damaged the Gordon Schroeder home at 1612 Wilson avenue, town of Oshkosh, Saturday night. The town of Oshkosh and city of Oshkosh departments were called when a neighbor saw flames in the house and he thought there might be children inside.

Using air masks, the town firemen entered the building but found it unoccupied.

Fuel Bursts Into Flame in Flooded Home

Menasha — While city firemen were pumping out the flooded basement of the E. M. Huntz home about 7:15 a.m. today, a flash fire broke out and caused further damage to the home at 212 Elm street.

Firemen were called at 6:30 a.m. to pump water from the basement as a result of the unseasonable rain Sunday and today.

Fire Capt. Cornelius Rippl, in charge of the fire department shift, said two cans of gasoline in the basement floated then tipped, spilling the fuel on the surface of the water.

The fumes or gasoline came in contact with the furnace's pilot light, and the gasoline and vapor burst into flame.

Damage in the house occurred to the basement ceiling and some flame traveled up between walls. Considerable smoke damage also was done to the house.

No loss estimate is available.

on duty at Hoover school and Bob Clark, custodian; George Nickel, custodian helper, and Jim Tomcsyk, teacher, were in charge at Wilson school. William Dunwiddie, chairman, and Kenneth Anderson, assistant chairman of the Civil Defense - Red Cross joint committee, arranged the school emergency setups.

Mrs. Paul Fahrenkrug, high school cook, reported to Wilson school to prepare meals. Earl Brien of the Civil Defense housing committee, aided with the arrangement for the opening of the schools.

Firemen reported that one Neenah home was extensively damaged. The home has no basement and water rose to a level where it covered the flooring, damaging a coil heating system which was installed in the floor.

In addition to the numerous calls to Neenah homes, firemen also were called to the Martin Luther church at S. Lake and Adams streets.

Mayor Gives Statement

Neenah Mayor Chester Bell issued a statement this morning and said, "The city of Neenah faces something of an emergency." The mayor pointed out that conditions were especially bad in the west section. Bell was up most of the night with Wayne Bryan, director of public works, and Herman Achterberg, street foreman. City crews worked through the night and put all water pumping equipment into use. Some heavy pumps were borrowed and put into use.

Bell, in a radio appeal this morning, asked housewives to defer doing wash until later in the week. He requested that residents avoid any excessive use of water and sewers.

Bell explained that cots were being set up at Hoover and Wilson schools for use tonight. Any persons who have no place to go should bring their own bedding to either of the schools.

In homes where furnace are out it is important that electrical connections be checked by an electrician before they are turned on again to avoid burning out motors, the mayor said.

Forecast Colder

Bell said that although the weather is mild right now the forecast is for colder. He suggested the use of the kitchen stove oven to supply some heat in homes where furnaces are out of order. The mayor said that all available equipment was in use and all steps were being taken to alleviate the situation. He also said the city is considering steps to prevent a recurrence of the situation, but that is something that will have to be taken care of in the future.

Menasha Damage

In Menasha, Elm street and Lake Crest drive were hardhit.

City firemen used their own pumps and one borrowed from the water and light department to pump out eight basements Sunday night and early today.

Five homes on Elm street were pumped out. In one, gasoline floating on the water burst into flame.

Two homes on Lake Crest drive and one on Ninth street also were pumped out.

Another casualty of the weather was the large Christmas tree set up on the old Mill street bridge site. The tree, because of high wind and soft ground, began leaning. Firemen secured it with ropes about 2:30 a.m. today.

The Neenah-Menasha sewage disposal plant has operated at a daily rate of 36 million gallons during high demand times, according to Arnold Sorensen, plant superintendent.

No problems have been encountered on the plant end of the sewer system, he added.

No trouble calls have come from Menasha, only from Neenah areas, Sorensen said.

Big Manhunt on

English Police Seek Maniac Killer Who Beheaded Girl

Birmingham, England—(AP)—Police seeking the maniac killer who beheaded a girl with a kitchen knife warned today that "no woman in Britain is safe."

Since last Wednesday night, when the headless body of 29-year-old Sidney Stephanie Baird was found in a YWCA hostel, the biggest manhunt in the history of Britain's industrial midlands has steadily built up.

"We are looking for a killer who may strike again at any moment," said a senior police officer.

Police toured the city with loudspeaker cars appealing for clues, flashed messages on movie screens, and broadcast to football crowds.

Last night, 27-year-old Mrs. Evelyn Peake said she believed she came face to face with a blood-soaked killer as he was making his escape.

Mrs. Peake got off a bus near her home 250 yards from the YWCA hostel.

"I saw a young man slumped against a wall of a house," she said.

"At first I thought he was drunk. But by the light of a street lamp I could see he appeared to be in pain.

"I walked over to him with two men. One of them said to him: 'Blimey mate, what have you been doing?'"

The man—his face was dirty and his clothing blood-stained—replied: "I fell down in a garden. I'll be all right when I get on a bus."

Mrs. Peake said he spoke in a clear, educated voice.

"To me, he seemed to be a businessman or a professional type.

The woman said the man lurched onto the bus, which carried him away.

Another who came in contact with the killer was 21-year-old Margaret Brown. She was ironing clothes at the YWCA hostel when the lights snapped out and the man crept up and knocked her unconscious.

It was while searching for her attacker that police discovered Miss Baird's headless body in a bedroom, the head nearby.

Saboteurs Wreck Mail Train in Central Ceylon

Colombo, Ceylon —(AP)— Saboteurs wrecked a mail train in north central Ceylon Sunday night injuring 30 persons and touching off an investigation into the possibility of new communal riots.

The train was derailed as it passed through Vavuniya, scene of grave rioting last year between rival Sinhalese and Tamil groups.

B. D. Rampala, general manager of the government railway, said several abortive attempts have been made during the last week to wreck mail trains on the same line. An investigation has been launched to find out whether the incidents are linked with the communal rivalry.

The government proclaimed a state of emergency in the spring of 1958 in an effort to halt bloody fighting between the Sinhalese majority and the Tamil minority over disqualification of Tamil as an official language. Hundreds were killed and much property burned or looted.

Love Apple Unit Cheers World's Sick Children

Guernsey, Channel Islands —(AP)— Five years ago a little girl picked a wild primrose—a single primrose that has blossomed into an amazing organization called the Love Apple league.

It has no membership fee. It has no membership card. It has no patrons. No executive committee. There is no membership card.

It's run by children.

And, it lives on an unselfish thought: Children shut away in hospitals, far from sunny fields, should have flowers.

The girl who did the first picking was named Garth. She was playing with another girl named Gillian.

Garth stood holding the primrose, looking about her at Gillian and thousands and thousands of primroses on this flowery island.

"What a wonderful sight," gasped Garth.

Millions of Blooms

"A million flowers," said Gillian.

"Wouldn't ill children love to see them. I wish we could send just hundreds of them to children lying in hospitals."

"I know it would make them feel better," said Gillian.

"Let's pick them," said Garth: "Hundreds of them."

"How're we going to get them to the children?"

"I don't know," smiled Garth, "but let's start picking."

Laden with armloads of primroses the children staggered home with their fragrant load and showed them to their father.

"Look," they chorused, "we've picked them for children in hospitals. How can we get them there?"

Airport

"Let's take them to the airport," said the father.

So, they and the flowers went to the Guernsey airport.

There they spoke to the first man they saw — Herbert Hill, manager of the airport restaurant.

He listened to their story. "Come with me," he said.

"Captain," asked Hill, "these little girls want you to take these flowers to England — to sick children in English hospitals. Can you do it?"

"I can and I will," he said, loading the primroses into his aircraft.

He flew directly to Birmingham in Britain's industrial midlands. He personally took them to a hospital for children.

Letters of Thanks

Two days later the letters of thanks began to arrive in Guernsey.

"Dear Children," one of them began.

"Thank you very, very much for the flowers. It was a beautiful idea. The flowers are so beautiful, too.

"Your flowers are brightening our ward. It gives us great pleasure just to look at them and sniff.

"We are already feeling better."

"Maxine Smith of Ward 6."

Hill looked at the letter and smiled.

"Now, Garth and Gillian," he said, "you've started something."

The idea spread. Other Guernsey children began collecting flowers and bringing them to the airport.

The pilots fell in with the idea. Flowers started being delivered all over the world.

Select Name

"You need a name for you "Now, what'll it be?"

The tomato is Guernsey's main fruit. They are shipped everywhere. The children wanted to connect the flower-sending plan with the tomato. But how?

Finally they settled on the tomato's ancient name—Love Apple.

That's how the Love Apple league got started. Now it has important links all over the world and even is a corporate member of the United Nations Organization. It has more than 1½ million members in 20 different countries.

Enthusiastic Art Group in Oshkosh Holds 2nd Exhibit

Oshkosh—Making up in enthusiasm what they lack in training, 11 women, who meet every Monday afternoon at the Oshkosh Public museum to paint, have turned out a creditable exhibit of 60 oil, watercolor and casein paintings.

Under the tutelage of Mrs. Alma Monahan, a former art teacher at Roosevelt Junior High school, the group began painting together about five years ago and in a little over a year's time had enough pictures to hold a showing at the museum in December of 1956.

A 2-month exhibition of the group's latest works now hangs in the museum galleries and galllery goers to both exhibits note improvements in the techniques of all 11 painters.

Six of the painters prefer watercolors and like to paint landscapes and still lifes, especially flowers. The watercolorists include the Mmes. Leo Niemuth and P. C. Carver, who likes to translate colored slides made on vacation trips into watercolor paintings, and the Misses Amy Davies, Grace Hathaway, whose landscapes are "boats and barns" Mary Janda and Ida Miller.

Mrs. Thelma Meeker got a head start on the group by taking up oil painting 10 years ago, although she has had no formal training.

Casein Paints

Three members of the group use casein paints. Mrs. Ivy McMillan said she prefers casein because "you can paint over if you make a mistake."

"Mount Ivy" as she is sometimes called by her fellow painters, is the "life" of the coffee hour which follows every painting session.

Miss Augusta Janda took up casein painting because, "It looked easy for Ivy. But I had a struggle getting started. In fact, I just joined the class because my sister Mary was a member and I didn't want to stay home alone on Monday afternoons," she smiled.

The third painter in casein is Miss Marie Metz, who like several others in the group, is a retired school teacher.

One member of the group, Mrs. Lillian Nelson, works in pastels, finding them quick and easy to handle.

The urge to express themselves creatively is strong in all members of the group. "Painting is something I've always wanted to do but I was always too busy," Miss Miller said, and several of the group nodded their heads in agreement.

Sketching Trips

When the weather is fine the group often goes out on sketching trips to Green Lake, Omro or Butte des Morts. A jaunt to Door county is a wistful future hope. The Janda sisters spent a week at the Clearing in Ellison Bay last summer and are enthusiastic about the sketching possibilities of the peninsula.

On several occasions the group has met at Menominee park in Oshkosh for brunch and sketching. A Christmas party luncheon this year had to be postponed until after the holidays due to the press of activities.

Episcopal, Moslem Rites Unite Couple

Washington —(AP)— Djahangir Boushehri and the former Elizabeth Ickes, married in both Episcopal and Moslem ceremonies, honeymooned in New York Monday before leaving for Europe and Iran.

The 18-year - old bride is the daughter of the late Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of Interior under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman for 14 years.

The two ceremonies were performed Sunday. First, Boushehri, son of a prominent Iranian family, and Miss Ickes were married in simple Episcopal rites at her family home in Olney, Md., 20 miles from here.

Two hours later, they were married with traditional Moslem rites at the Iranian embassy in Washington.

The couple sat in straight chairs, looking down on a silver-framed mirror, symbol of future brightness. In front of the mirror lay a silver compote of sweets, two white candles, a vase of white chrysanthemums and a copy of the holy Koran. The sweets symbolized the sweetness of life; the candles symbolized light and happiness.

During the ceremonies, the bride and bridegroom signed marriage documents. In the Moslem tradition, the bridegroom promised to pay his bride about 18 ounces of gold anytime she demanded. Then Boushehri and Miss Ickes exchanged plain gold wedding bands, and the ceremony was over.

The bridegroom, 35, is employed by the International Monetary fund here. He is the son of an Iranian senator.

The services were attended by the bride's mother, Mrs. Ickes, and her brother, Harold M., 20. Secretary Ickes died in 1952.

Zephyrs Face Marshfield In Marinette Meet Opener

Menashans Take 8-0 Record Into Tuesday Night Tangle

Menasha — St. Mary will open play in the Marinette Invitational holiday basketball tournament at 7 p.m. Tuesday, meeting Marshfield Columbus in the initial game of the 2-day meet.

St. John of Little Chute and host Marinette Central Catholic are matched in the second test. The winners will meet for the championship Wednesday night with the losers clashing for consolation honors.

Alumni Game

Menasha — St. Mary will play an alumni team at 8 p.m. Saturday night in the Zephyr gym, school officials announced today.

The Zephyrs, on the basis of their 8-0 record, have been tabbed favorites in the meet sponsored by the Marinette Catholic Central Athletic club.

Wins 28 of 29

St. Mary has won 28 of its last 29 games, a loss to Racine St. Catherine in the state Catholic tournament title game the only thing between last season's 20-game winning streak and the eight straight of the current campaign.

Marshfield Columbus takes a 6-3 record into the tourney. The Dons, who haven't met the Zephyrs in recent seasons, have been hit by injuries recently.

Tom Pankratz, the leading scorer with a 17 point per game average, missed the last two games because of an injury but is expected to be ready for the tourney. The No. 2 marksman, Dale Wolf, 6-0 boy who can play guard or forward, also is on the disabled list and his tourney status is very questionable.

No Common Foes

The Dons haven't played any Fox Valley Catholic conference or area foes so it is impossible to draw a comparison between the opening game foes.

Marinette coach Marty Crowe was the first mentor at the Marshfield school. The Dons and Zephyrs resumed football relations this fall with St. Mary taking a thrilling 28-27 win.

The Zephyrs will leave Tuesday morning and be housed at a Marinette motel. They will return sometime Thursday. Each team will be permitted to carry 10 players.

Carry 12 Players

The Zephyrs have been suiting up 12 each game, including three who play in the jayvee game. The dozen doesn't include Jim Rueckl, who has been out with an injury since the Milwaukee North game of Nov. 25 and isn't expected back for another two or three weeks.

The Rev. Robert Weiss, Central Catholic athletic director, is chairman of the tournament. The Marinette team originally was invited to a holiday event at Mankato, Minn., but it was later decided to keep that affair an all-Minnesota event.

Montreal Cops Two, Widens NHL Margin

Toronto Wins Twice, Tightens Race for Runner-Up Spot

By The Associated Press

The National Hockey league looked more than ever like a 4-circuit affair today with Montreal alone in one, Toronto and Detroit in another, Boston and Chicago in a third and New York by itself in the fourth.

The Canadiens, who have lost only six games, picked up two more victories over the weekend with a 9-2 decision over Chicago Saturday and a 3-1 triumph over Detroit Sunday.

Meantime, the Toronto Maple Leafs closed within one point of the second place Red Wings by downing the Rangers twice. At Toronto Saturday the score was 4-0. At New York Sunday, it was 6-3.

Chicago, rebounding from its sound whipping by the Canadiens, walloped Boston, 6-1, Sunday to move into a tie for fourth with the Bruins.

Break Loose

After being shackled for 46 minutes by the Wings, the Canadiens broke loose for three goals in the final 14 minutes and lengthened their lead over Detroit to 10 points. Montreal's goals came off the sticks of Bernie Geoffrion, Phil Goyette and Henri Richard. Jack McIntyre spoiled Jacques Plante's bid for his third shutout of the season with a goal at 13:27 of the finale.

Seeks More Copper Bowl 'Equality'

Coach Kush Wants Wider Area From Which to Pick Players

Tempe, Ariz. —(AP)— A lopsided system of picking Southwest all-stars was blamed for their defeat by Arizona State University Coach Frank Kush.

National all-stars cut down the Southwesterners, 21-6, in Saturday's second annual Copper bowl game at Tempe.

"Things will be different next year," said Kush, southwest co-pilot with Ben Martin of the Air Force academy.

"The system of selecting players has to be equalized. The southwest area and its talent are too limited," said Kush.

"The Nationals draw from the rest of the nation," he complained. "We were outgunned on the offensive line and couldn't match their passing game."

The two teams battled evenly in the first quarter before 16,000 fans and a national television audience. After that, the Nationals seized control.

The southwest's only score came on a 41-yard pass from Arizona quarterback Jim Giest to end Bill Spanko of Arizona State university.

The Nationals, dominated offensive statistics, rolling up 342 yards to only 153 for the southwest.

Driving a Car From New London to Rolandia, Brazil, offered a wide variety of hardships and experiences for Howard Oertel, Jr., center, who is showing his mother a new suit coat he purchased in Sao Paulo, Brazil, for $22. His father, Howard Oertel, Sr., route 3, New London, right, is looking at a gun belt his son purchased for $2 on his 15,000-mile trip.

Drives Car Over Continent

New London Youth Returns From 15,000 Mile South American Trip

BY RICHARD McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

New London — Sun tanned, lean, wiser in the ways of the world and practically broke, Howard Oertel, Jr., son of the senior Oertels, route 3, New London, returned Christmas eve from a 15,000 - mile trip by car to Rolandia, Brazil.

Objective of the trip was to learn, first hand, agricultural methods being used in the various Latin America countries between here and Brazil. This objective, however, provided only a small phase of the trip which also included a bookful of experiences in dealing with governmental officials for visas and permits and stores of experiences by living with the people.

Oertel, who made the trip with Klaus Nixdorf, a Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity brother from the University of Wisconsin and a native of Rolandia, reported the trip was an education in itself and also admitted he would never attempt it again nor advise any other would-be world traveller to try it. "It's too rough," he said.

Food Cost Low

The two University graduates of agriculture and extension work, left Madison June 30 and arrived in Rolandia four and one-half months later.

Total cost of the trip was $1,522, which included $49 for food, which accounts for Oertel's leanness, even though the American dollar is worth more in the Latin countries.

Because of the dangers of carrying a large sum of money, the two young men carried only enough money to tide them over for short times, having money sent from home to future destinations along the route.

Expense Record

According to Oertel's journal they spent $165 in the United States, $215 in Mexico, $37 in Guatemala, $104 in El Salvador, $10 in Honduras, $28 in Nicaragua, $250 in Costa Rica, $74 in Panama, $315 in Colombia, $20 in Equador, $104 in Peru, $82 in Bolivia and $28 in Brazil.

Gas and oil used $322 and other expenses, which consisted mostly of repairs for the car and 17 new tires, totaled $1,033.

They used army surplus equipment including a small gas stove and tent and sleeping bags, acquiring all of the Boy Scout camping skills and some new ones of their own.

Diet of Natives

Their diet consisted mostly of bread, rice, native fruits and coffee, although they occasionally lived good while visiting friends of the Nixdorf family. They also brought with them a large supply of honey purchased in California and served as a spread for their bread.

The first serious expense of the car came in the mountains in Mexico when their car was struck on the side by a car driven by a Mexican. They drove the car into Mexico City and spent $200 and two weeks having it repaired. Living with Nixdorf's uncle, however, made the stay comfortable.

They ran into a revolution in Guatemala and were advised by the governmental officials to speed through the country. This was one of the few times they spent a night in a hotel and because of a lack of finances selected a third rate building and slept with pistols under their pillows.

Almost Jailed

They almost were put in jail in Nicaragua for taking pictures of the president's palace during another revolution.

The agriculture specialists learned in Costa Rica that the Pan-American highway does not exist in that country and they were forced to ship their car by boat from Puntarenas to Colon, Panama, and from there to Cartagena, Colombia. At this point, they were almost ready to give up their adventure and buy plane tickets for Rolandia.

They ran out of money in Colombia and spent two days and nights without food and sleep. They also learned the meaning of the word "fear" in Colombia when they were riding a bus over the mountains. Their bus driver, a happy-go-lucky individual, who knew the hazardous mountain roads, did much to unnerve the young adventurers by almost skidding the bus off the road into deep mountain canyons.

They were almost robbed in a colored district in Colon by "two big colored men." Nixdorf grabbed the hand of one of the men and spun him around as Oertel pulled out his 22 cal. target pistol. At the show of guns, the would-be robbers made a hasty retreat.

Learned of People

The two travellers learned most people are good, honest and helpful. They also learned it would have been impossible to make the record - breaking trip had it not been for the goodness of people.

They found it possible to live for as many as six days on watermelons and bananas.

One of Oertel's biggest thrills on the entire trip was a date he had with a sugar cane queen in Bolivia. He met her through friends of Nixdorf, who was the linguist on the trip.

Need New Methods

Oertel learned that all of the countries between here and Brazil are in need of extensive instruction in agriculture and extension work.

He reported that the Brazilian government is doing much to improve agriculture and farm education and cited Nixdorf as an example. Nixdorf spent four years at the University of Wisconsin as an international exchange student.

Oertel's plans for the future are simple. He will return to Madison, find employment, return to school to study Spanish and Portuguese at the university, and return to Brazil where he will work with the government in agriculture.

Next time, however, he plans to make the entire trip by air.

License Fee Rises $1, Many Requirements Increase Red Tape

The state's new family code takes effect Jan. 1 and one result will be more red tape in getting marriage licenses, says County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer.

The code, in essence designed to tighten the marriage laws in an attempt to strengthen family life, also will drastically affect the marriage restrictions for divorced persons responsible for the support of previous families, Miss Pfeffer added.

To get a marriage license after Jan. 1, you must bring the following:

1. Proof of age—birth certificate, driver's license, identification card, draft registration or other valid proof of birth date.

Fee Upped

2. $3 instead of the present $2.

3. Proof of residence—to establish that at least one of the parties has resided in Outagamie county for 30 days or more. Miss Pfeffer commented that there really is no ironclad way to prove residence other than to have a third party who will confirm residence.

4. Wasserman and venereal tests within 20 days before the license is issued. Both parties must take the tests under the new law, unlike only the male for venereal disease at present. A doctor's certificate must be presented.

5. All documents affecting marital status. If either person has minor children from a previous marriage not in his or her custody and the person is liable for their support, the person must have the permission of the judge with jurisdiction over the children—this also is true for a non-resident.

Good 30 Days

The marriage license issued is valid for marriage anywhere in the state within 30 days. If, the marriage does not take place, the persons must make new application.

The age of marriage has been raised a year for girls, from 15 to 16, and they must have permisison of a judge of a court of record to marry. Males under 21 and females under 18 must have the permission of their parents or the county judge. Males under 18 must have the permission of the judge.

No one of relationship nearer than second cousin, except first cousins if the woman is over 55 years old, may marry. The question of who can or cannot marry is probably up to the newly-established family court commissioner, Miss Pfeffer said.

Divorced persons must wait a year to remarry, the same as at present. Divorces in other states must conform to this rule and if the couple married in less than a year in another state, their marriage will not be legally valid in Wisconsin.

Judges Waive

Judges may waive the medical tests upon application and payment of a $5 fee. Application for a license must be made five days before it is issued and this requirement also may be waived by a judge upon application and payment of a $5 fee.

However, documentary proof in both cases must be given the judge, unlike the present satisfactory evidence. This is simply a more stringent proving need for waiving requirements.

After the couple applies for a license, the county clerk must "post in his office a notice giving names and addresses of parties and date of application. Also a list of parties who can object to the marriage."

Marriage contracts can be solemnized only by clergy, judge of a court of record (no justices of the peace or court commissioners) in the presence of two adult witnesses.

Kaukaunan Hurt on Ice

Francis Muthig Car Loses Wheel in Winnebago Crack

Chilton — A Kaukauna man, Francis Muthig, 46, 1015 Oviatt street, was treated by a Stockbridge doctor for head injuries he received when the front wheels of his car crashed through the ice on Lake Winnebago Saturday afternoon.

One wheel of Muthig's car was torn off when it dropped into an unseen crack. The driver was thrown against the windshield cutting his forehead.

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky said Muthig strayed from the marked roadway in the dense fog which shrouded the lake.

Three Injured In Accident

Car Careens Into Parked Vehicles After Collision

Fremont — Three persons were injured in an accident in which four vehicles were involved Saturday.

Hospitalized at Waupaca Memorial hospital are:

Mrs. John Weiss, route 2, Fremont, with knee injuries.

Ronald Button, 18, route 2, Weyauwega, broken ankle.

Harland Vetter, 18, Weyauwega, one of the drivers, suffered scalp lacerations but was not hospitalized.

According to the county patrol, Vetter's car collided with a car driven by John Weiss, 63, route 2, Fremont, at Highways 10-110 about noon Saturday.

The Vetter car careened into a Weyauwega Dairy truck and a car owned by Glen Johnson, route 1 Winneconne, both parked at the Silverfield Cheese factory.

Mrs. Weiss was a passenger in her husband's car and Button was Vetter's passenger.

Appleton Police Also Probe Entry At Auto Mart

An attempted breakin at the Appleton Labor temple, 527 N. Appleton street, has been reported to city police by Louis Bellin, manager.

Police said Walter Krueger, 220 W. Winnebago street, a janitor at the building, found a hole had been drilled into the door on the southwest corner of the building. The intruders apparently tried to place a bar through the hole and unhook the latch from the inside. The attempt failed, however.

Meanwhile, W. E. Wilke, owner of the Appleton Auto Mart, 819 W. Wisconsin avenue, told police a garage on his property had been entered sometime over the holiday weekend but nothing, apparently, was taken.

Police said someone forced open the door by pulling off the latch. Wilke said he locked up at noon Christmas eve and came back about 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon and he discovered the breakin.

Six Fined On Drunken Driving Counts

Kaukauna Driver Knocks Down Pole, Puts Out Lights

Six drunken drivers were arrested in Winnebago and Outagamie counties over the weekend and found guilty.

Stephen S. Csida, 56, of 1630 E. Pauline street, Appleton, was fined $125 and costs this morning by Police Justice Arthur Ales in Menasha. He was arrested 11 p m. Saturday at the corner of Third and Racine streets in Menasha after he was seen driving on the left side of Racine street. Menasha police, who arrested him said he nearly hit another car. Csida tested .23 on the drunkometer.

In Kaukauna, Donald G. Resch, 24, of 619 Hendricks avenue, Kaukauna, was arrested after he knocked down a guard rail post and struck an electric light pole, putting lights out of commission in the surrounding Darboy road and Prospect street about 1 a.m. Saturday. Power was restored on Prospect street at 4 a.m.

Resch refused the drunkometer test and pleaded no contest. He was found guilty by Justice Fred Wagnitz and fined $100 for drunken driving and $50 for the accident.

Four drivers appeared before Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger in Oshkosh. Rudolph H. Kriha, Sr., 44, of route 2, Omro, pleaded guilty after he was arrested at 5:42 p. m. Thursday in the town of Algoma. Kriha's car was involved in an accident with one driven by Carl C. Marx, route 3, Oshkosh, on Highway 21. After Kriha's car went into a snowbank, he left the accident and went into a nearby tavern, where Winnebago county police arrested him later.

Kriha, who tested .17 on the breahtalyzer, was fined $100 for the drunken driving charge and $50 for leaving the accident scene, plus costs.

DeLloyd Rader, 25, of 610 Roosevelt street, Neenah, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and a hit-run charge and was fined $100 and $35 respectively. Rader was arrested after his car struck a parked one belonging to Timothy Pauley, 365 Ahnaip street, Menasha, on Greenwald avenue in the town of Neenah at 7:20 p. m. Saturday. Pauley got Rader's license number for the Winnebago county police. Rader refused the breathalyzer test.

Gerald T. Scheffler, 18, of 751 Manitowoc street, Menasha, was fined $100 and costs after pleading guilty. He was arrested by county police after his car went into the ditch on Winnebago County Trunk A at 9:18 p. m. Friday. He tested .17 on the breathalyzer.

Earl Steube, 41, of 1337 Hazel street, Oshkosh, was arrested by Oshkosh city police after his car hit a utility pole at Bowen and Murdock streets in the city of Oshkosh, at 1:35 a. m. Sunday. He was fined $100 and costs after refusing the test.

Man, 37, Collapses, Taken to Hospital

Eugene Riley, 37, 817 Ridge Lane, collapsed at his home this morning and was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Larry's ambulance. Attendants administered oxygen on the way to the hospital.

The hospital reported Riley's condition this noon as improved.

The Fathers of the Girls introduced at the Coronet ball Sunday evening at Butte des Morts Golf club claimed the first dance with their daughters after the presentation before their escorts and other club members took over the evening. Eight daughters of members were introduced.

Second Annual Coronet Ball Introduces 8 Young Women to Butte des Morts Members

BY CAROL RICHARDSON
Post-Crescent Society Editor

A sparkling theme of green, white and gold prevailed at Butte des Morts Golf club Sunday evening when eight young women were introduced at the second annual Coronet ball. A large coronet was suspended over the small stage in the club's main dining room and two fluffy white swans were placed at either side of the stage.

The young women who were presented were Miss Carolyn Balliet, Miss Bonnie Mae Barlow, Miss Barbara Jean Crabb, Miss Frances Marie Koller, Miss Lisa Konz, Miss Sandra Claire Pollard, Miss Karen Kay Schrage and Miss Barbara Van Housen. Their fathers introduced them to BDM president, John M. Hayes, who in turn presented them to the club membership. He crowned the white-gowned young women with sparkly gold coronets which had been resting on white posts at the back of the stage. Green leaves and green satin ribbons adorned the background.

Bouquets of white feathered carnations interspersed with shining gold leaves and gold ribbon were carried by the eight daughters of club members as they were escorted to the presentation stage by their fathers. Small gold discs engraved with the girls' initials, the ball date and the coronet symbol were included in the bouquet and will be kept as souvenirs of the event.

After the formal presentation the spectators filed into the ballroom where the young women and their fathers then circled the floor. Fathers danced first with their daughters before their escorts and other club members cut in. Friends of the eight preseptees had been invited to join them for the dancing portion of the evening.

White Gold Tree

Spotlighted in the corner of the ballroom was a large white tree trimmed with gold and garlands were suspended from the ceiling. Six little angels made of white net and trimmed with holly and sparkling gold collars fluttered happily from the club ceiling and another large gold coronet was seen in the ballroom.

Soft white net was used to shape a Christmas tree against the plate glass window facing the golf course. Rows of small red apples trimmed the tree which was emphasized by the un-Christmasy rain driving against the window.

As "Out of My Dreams," from "Oklahoma" was played on the organ by Mrs. Eric D. Lindberg, Miss Carolyn Balliet was presented. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Balliet, 508 S. Memorial drive, and was escorted by John Ashman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ashman, 2015 Hickory court.

Miss Balliet chose a floor-length gown of pure silk organza underscored with taffeta. The softly crushed bodice had narrow shoulder straps and the bell skirt was caught with self-roses with seed pearls in the center.

Satin Gowns

Wearing a gown of deep lustre satin featuring a square neckline and narrow, off-the-shoulder straps, Miss Bonnie Mae Barlow was introduced. Wide streamers added back interest to the full, circular skirt. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. John Barlow, 178 River drive, chose the song, "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody" and Michael Franzke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franzke, Jr., 908 N. Morrison street, was her escort for the evening.

"Fascination" provided background music as Miss Barbara Jean Crabb was escorted to the stage by her father. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crabb, 1421 S. Alicia drive, and she chose Paul Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Olson, 220 E. Lawrence street, as her escort.

Miss Crabb appeared in a strapless gown of sheer nylon chiffon and tulle over taffeta. The bodice was draped and a wide satin band encircled the voluminous skirt of chiffon and tulle.

Miss Frances Marie Koller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koller, 116 N. Green Bay road, was introduced to the strains of "Deep Purple." Phillip Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Phillip Dixon, Jr., 614 E. Grant street, was her escort and she chose a bouffant gown of nylon sheer with a modified scoop neckline and short sleeves. Venise lace accented the bodice.

Miss Konz Presented

Miss Lisa Konz, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Stephan A. Konz, 26 Bellaire court, appeared in a princess-style gown of velvet and silk organza. The yoke, directoire bodice and floating back panel were of white chiffon velvet and organza formed the skirt.

She was escorted by William Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Baldwin, 143 N. Park avenue, Neenah, and she selected "Some Enchanted Evening" as her special song.

"Moonglow" was played on the organ as Miss Sandra Claire Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Henry L. Pollard, 1112 E. Nawada street, was presented. She chose a dress of silk faille with a fitted bodice, draped waistline and off-the-shoulder neckline. The bouffant skirt was side-draped and held with a flower of the same material.

Her date was Frank Kreiling, Jr., son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Kreiling, 1601 Highland avenue.

As a surprise to her mother, "Sweet Adeline" was played as Miss Karen Kay Schrage was escorted to the stage by her father. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schrage, 1520 S. Outagamie street, chose David Wolters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wolters, 1517 W. Prospect street, as her escort.

Floor-Length Dresses

Miss Schrage, like the other young women, chose a floor-length gown of "debutante" white. The taffeta gown had a snug, basque bodice with diagonal unpressed pleats and pleated shoulder straps. The bell skirt was accented with side poufs and large roses of the same fabric.

A gown purchased on a family vacation in Paris last summer was worn by Miss Barbara Van Housen as she was introduced to Butte des Morts members. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Van Housen, 1401 Reid drive, appeared in a dress of scalloped French organdy with a fitted bodice, V-neckline and cap sleeves. A white satin cummerbund accented the waistline and the scallops were repeated at the neckline, hipline and hem.

Her escort was Thomas Sherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sherry, 1724 S. Hycrest drive, and she chose "On the Street Where You Live" for her song.

The eight young women are all June high school graduates and will return to freshman studies at various colleges and universities after the holidays. The Misses Balliet, Barlow, Crabb, Konz, Pollard and Schrage are all graduates of Appleton High school while Miss Van Housen attended Wayland academy, Beaver Dam. Miss Koller is an alumna of St. John Catholic High school, Little Chute.

Various Colleges

Studying at St. Norbert college, West De Pere, are Miss Crabb and Miss Konz while Miss Balliet attends St. Mary's School of Nursing, Wausau. Miss Barlow is a freshman at the University of Wisconsin and Miss Koller attends the University of Beauty Culture, Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Pollard attends Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., while Miss Schrage is a student at Oshkosh State college. Miss Van Housen studies at Albion college, Albion, Mich.

Prior to the ball, the young women and their escorts attended a "coketail" party at the Van Housen home from 6 to 7 p. m. and their parents gathered there from 7 to 8 p. m. for cocktails.

In charge of arrangements for the second annual Coronet ball were Mrs. Frank Jenkins and Mrs. Raymond Le Vee. The new tradition for the 35-year-old golf club was begun on the same date in 1958 when five young women were presented.

Miss Lisa Konz, Left, and Miss Barbara Crabb assisted each other with a little primping in the ladies lounge before their introduction Sunday at Butte des Morts Golf club.

Action of In-Law Resented

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week my newly married son and his bride invited me and a few very close friends of mine to their house for an evening. My daughter-in-law had a dish of candy and another dish of assorted salted nuts on the coffee table for the guests to help themselves. However, none of them seemed to be doing this, so after awhile I got up and passed the dishes around to them. I understand my daughter-in-law has criticized me for doing this and resents my action very much. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

Answer: There was nothing wrong in what you did. But it is easy to see how a young bride, trying to be perfect in her new role of hostess, might resent any action that seems to imply that she needs prompting—especially by her mother-in-law.

In Same Building

Dear Mrs. Post: There is a young woman working in the same office building where I work whom I see quite often riding up and down on the elevator. I am very much attracted to her and would like to get to know her. Would it be proper for me to speak to her some morning or evening when we meet?

Answer: Strictly speaking, no; but you might say a simple "Good morning," and then if she answers and this becomes a daily habit, a few words about the weather, but only with some encouragement from her, might be the beginning of a friendship.

Separate Tip

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I went to the beauty shop to which I always go, for a permanent wave. My regular operator was busy when I arrived and so she asked one of the other girls to shampoo my hair while she finished her other customer. I would like to know if I should have given her a separate tip?

Answer: Yes.

HIS AND HERS —

Sloppy Writing

". . .We are newly weds and would like to ask a question. Is it true that "sloppy" writing reveals a superior intelligence?"

Mere nervousness will sometimes give a disturbing tremor to handwriting. Your writing, Mr. Newly Wed, shows traces of uneasiness that disturb the legibility, but aren't most young bridegrooms nervous? You'll soon gain assurance, though, with the assistance of a bride who writes like yours.

Your handwriting will become steadier, firmer as you achieve confidence. Watch it!

Your bride's handwriting indicates that she'll be a capable homemaker. She also has a sweet, loving disposition and a happy sense of humor. Kindliness plus the ability to "see the funny side" helps to dispel anxiety.

In reply to your question, a carelessly written script with many unnecessary strokes on words is more likely to reveal "sloppy" traits than a "superior intelligence."

It is true that some brilliant persons, especially under pressure, write in a swift, clipped way that appears illegible at first glance because the pen can't keep up with the writer's racing mind. Letters become tiny or else strokes. This is not the same as "sloppy" writing though it may be hard to read.

Miss Stafford welcomes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column.

New Born Baby Changes Family's Way of Living

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.

A baby changes your way of life. Many of the changes you have thought about, I'm sure, but no matter how well prepared you think you are, you are in for some surprises.

In the early months of pregnancy your life probably will go along as before. But there comes a time when you will probably quit your job, if you have one, and begin to feel like the mother you are soon to be.

One of the complaints of young mothers is isolation and confinement. Before you have a baby you can pretty much go where you like when you like. Maybe you never realized your freedom. Perhaps you felt you were tied down by your job, by skimpy funds, by lack of a car. But when you have one, or several young children, you'll find that its much more difficult to leave home.

You cannot go anywhere without taking the baby with you. This doesn't mean that you're not going to be able to go anywhere ever again, but it does mean that you cannot skip out lightly. You must time a trip to the market between the baby's feedings, and no baby goes anywhere without quite a bit of paraphernalia. Occasionally you'll get a babysitter and have a spree, but you're not going to do that too often.

After your baby is born you are going to be housebound for a few years. And if you plan several children, as I certainly hope you do, you'll be about the house some more years.

You can fret and fume, and feel sorry for yourself—some girls do. You can nag your husband, complain about your lot. The more you nag and complain, the more your husband will find excuses to stay at the office and the more lonesome you will become.

Instead of complaining and telling everyone you never did like housework, let's take a look at the job you have before you. A job, by the way, for which you have responsibility 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year. A job in which there are no vacations, with or without pay, and a job you cannot quit.

Mother's Job

You have a house to keep clean and orderly. You have a child, maybe several children, to bring up. You have husband and children to feed and keep well nourished. You have a husband whose love you want to keep warm and fresh.

Altogether you have a home to make, a home where everyone who is part of it finds peace and contentment within its walls. All this you have to do on whatever your husband provides. No matter what it is, it is never quite enough and you will have to budget and learn to squeeze value out of each penny.

Be Prepared

As you wait for your first baby think about this big job you have ahead of you. What can you do now to make yourself better prepared? The better you do the job the better you will enjoy it.

How good a cook are you? How much do you know about nutrition? Can you prepare tasty meals that grow rosy cheeks and sturdy muscles on the food allowance you have? Maybe a course in cooking or in nutrition right now would stand you in good stead later on.

Read a few books on child care and the development of children. Be prepared to avoid a few problems—you can't expect to avoid them all.

Plan out how your money is to be spent.

If you have a bit of time on your hands now, spend it to become better prepared for the job ahead of you.

Mother's Helper

by Heimans & Pearson

DURING VACATION, you may plan to take your children and some of their friends to visit a museum, or on some other "expedition." Precautionary measure: when you arrive, take the children to an easily-identified spot and make it clear that they are to go to that place and wait, should they somehow get separated from your group.

Your Problems

Grizzled Grandpa's Antics Embarrass Teen-Aged Girl

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm 16 and miserable. The reason—I'm ashamed to invite the kids over or have a fellow pick me up for a date at home because of my grandfather who lives with us.

Ann Landers

Gramp is 82 and forgetful. He never can remember where his teeth or his glasses are. He often forgets to put on his pants. Every night he sits in the living room (in his underwear) watching TV.

I've complained to Mom but she says older people should have special privileges and respect. I can see her point, but she doesn't see mine. Do you think it's right for a girl to have to be picked up for dates at a friend's house? What is your opinion?—Embarrassed

Dear Embarrassed: I agree that older people should have respect and special privileges, but putting a bathrobe on Gramp does not deny him either.

You should not be forced to meet friends outside your home and Mom is rather unimaginative not to have thought of this simple solution. So long as Gramp is neat and covered you need make no apologies for him.

Dear Ann: I'm 47 and going through the menopause. My husband is the type who thinks this is a lot of bunk. He, however, is constantly under the doctor's care, reads medical books like most people read novels, and has a technical name for every one of his precious aches and pains.

He says menopause is natural and millions of women go through it with no trouble whatever. The "complainers" are only trying to drum up sympathy.

According to him childbirth is a cinch, too. His mother had six with no doctor present—just a midwife. His theory is that physical changes in a woman are a part of nature and were designed by nature to be painless. Modern women who complain are only trying to get attention or sympathy from men.

Will you please set him straight?—Mere Woman

Dear Mere Woman: Humans vary. Some women have been known to give birth in the back of a sedan, with a sneeze, but most of us sweat it out in the labor room.

The menopause hits certain women hard while others breeze through without so much as a hot flash. Any doctor will tell you that the physical and emotional changes which accompany menopause are genuine and not a conspiracy to get sympathy. Medical science has developed new drugs in the last few years which have proven a Godsend to women who have difficulty.

Since that insenstive clunk you're married to likes to read medical books present him with one on this subject. He needs educating.

James Roehl, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Roehl, 910 N. Douglas street, was home for the holidays to give the same concert program he will present at Town hall, New York City, next month. Concert pianist and head of the piano department of the Capitol School of Music in New York, Roehl gave his recital Sunday night at a private gathering at the studio of his Appleton teacher, Irving Schwerke, 320 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Miss Joyce Trow Bride In Moravian Church Rites

During a double ring candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Saturday evening, Miss Joyce E. Trow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Trow, route 1, Kaukauna, became the bride of John H. Keeling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keeling, Beloit.

The Rev. George Scilley officiated at the Freedom Moravian church and the bride's father escorted her to the altar. Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Patricia L. Trow, route 1, Kaukauna, and aids were another sister, Miss Bonnie Trow, and Miss Faye L. Polzin, West De Pere.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother-in-law, James Howard, Beloit, and groomsmen were Dale Weast, Waukesha, and Clifford Anderson, Brodhead. Ushers were the bride's brother, John L. Trow, Wisconsin Rapids; Fred Polzin, West De Pere, and Ted Huckro, Kewaunee.

A reception and dance at the Appleton Elks club followed the rites.

The bride is a graduate of Freedom High school and attended the University of Wisconsin Extension division at Menasha and Whitewater State college. She is employed as secretary at the Franklin MacVeagh company, Arlington Heights, Ill.

Mr. Keeling attended Clinton High school and received his degree from Whitewater State college. He is currently serving in the army.

Cadet Mothers Entertain at Holiday Party

The Civil Air Patrol Cadet mothers sponsored a Christmas party and dance for cadets Dec. 19 at the Whiting Boat House in Neenah.

Dancing prizes were won by Bill Knoener, Connie Kowalke, Audrey Mehlock and James Koleske. Judy Schmieding, James Koleske, Alex Bloedorn and Carol Mircale won a leg race.

Candy was donated by the group to the Christmas Giving committee of the Community council for the Needy.

James Roehl Gives Concert In Appleton

A young concert pianist now of New York City was home for Christmas this year to give a preview of his scheduled Town hall appearance in the big city in about three weeks.

He is James Roehl, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin C. Roehl, 910 N. Douglas street. In addition to his concert work, Roehl is head of the piano department at the Capitol School of Music in New York.

His Appleton concert was given Sunday night at a private gathering in the studio of his teacher, Irving Schwerke, 320 E. Wisconsin avenue. Roehl studied with Schwerke for about seven years, from the time he was a junior high school student through his sophomore year in college.

Born in Appleton

The talented musician was born in Appleton and attended school here, graduating from Appleton High school in 1954. After two years at the Menasha Extension center, University of Wisconsin, he went to New York to study at the Manhattan School of Music. He has been concertizing since that time as well as teaching three days a week.

His program Sunday was the same one he will present later in New York. It included a group of Scarlatti sonatas. Mozart's Sonata in F. Major, a group of Chopin etudes, nocturnes and Ballade in F. Major and several Liszt numbers with the composer's Rhapsody No. 6 as his final presentation.

The pianist returned to the east today.

Pythian Sisters Give Donations

The Pythian Sisters gave donations to the Retarded Children's fund and to the Outagamie county chapter of the National Foundation at its meeting Monday at Castle hall.

Mrs. John Nygren, altruistic chairman, was in charge of the Christmas parties at the Appleton City home and at Morgan school. The members brought gifts and refreshments and Miss Jean Berken entertained the groups.

Mrs. Nygren also distributed four Christmas baskets to needy families. The installation for Knights and Sisters will be held Jan. 7.

Census of the Birds Starts in Los Angeles

Los Angeles—(AP)—A special census is being held in a 15-mile area of Los Angeles today.

It's for the birds.

The Los Angeles Audubon Society, Inc., has 60 spotters counting beaks in an area centered on Pico and La Cienega boulevards. It's part of an annual birdcount taken each year by Audubon units.

Last year 148 species were counted in Los Angeles.

Buys for the Week

Ham, Turkey Featured Meats for Holidays

Ham and turkey are featured meat items for the holidays.

Generally, the price of turkey is running higher at this season than during the Thanksgiving holiday, although some grocery stores are featuring turkey at very attractive prices. All types of hams are available, and are being featured at this time. Pork cuts remain a very reasonably priced item, as does frying chicken. Grade A eggs continue to be an excellent buy.

Cranberries, apples and oranges are being featured this week with an abundant supply of these fruits. You'll find excellent quality in all three.

Oranges Plentiful

The oranges being featured are the medium-size oranges, just right for youngsters' inbetween-meal snacks. These are the navel oranges from California. Juice oranges, too, continue to be reasonably priced and plentiful.

Wisconsin and Washington state apples continue to be good buys. A good supply of high-quality apples are available. Delicious and Cortland apples are excellent for salad thans, McIntosh, Cortland are nicely used for cooking and baking purposes.

Grapefruit continues to be plentiful, and excellent in quality. Kumquats, tangerines and tangelos are available. The banana market has remained fairly much the same as last week, higher than it had been, due to the consumer demand

Fresh dates, fresh figs, pomegranates, prickly pears, persimmons, nuts and nutmeats are available in good supply at this time. Avocados are being featured by some stores, generally in good supply for salads, fruit cocktails, dips.

You'll find a wide variety of vegetables from which to choose at about the same price level as a week ago. Carrots and celery are both excellent in quality. Celery is expected to be featured for that relish tray as well as for the turkey stuffing this week.

Potatoes, Yams

Potatoes are excellent in quality, remaining on the best buys listing. Russet Burbanks are being featured in some stores this week, as are yams, also a plentiful item.

The quality of head lettuce is improving, and is available at various price levels, depending on the quality you want. Florida small vegetables are holding steady, up a little from two weeks ago. This includes green peppers, cucumbers, radishes. Tomatoes are available, as are green onions, salad greens, Florida acorn squash.

During the holidays, when you may be doing quite a little entertaining, you can save yourself some last - minute chagrin by having at least two cheese varieties on hand for snacks, a package of cream cheese, cottage cheese, or one or two of the prepared cheese spreads or dips. You are ready, then, with the basic ingredients for any variety of chip dip you might like to serve your guests.

Have plenty of milk on hand for those youngsters who come to visit your home. A glass of milk, with some of your Christmas cookies, will hit the spot for those children.

Driving in County Still Hazardous

Police Caution Motorists About Water-Filled Holes

Driving conditions remain hazardous in Outagamie county today in the wake of a rainy, wind-swept holiday weekend which saw fairly heavy traffic and relatively few accidents considering the weather.

Four persons were injured in county crashes.

Appleton police investigated five accidents, none serious. Heavy fog in the city, as in the county, forced motorists to reduce speed and use extra caution.

Holes Dangerous

County police said the major hazard today is holes in the blacktop paving where patching has been washed out by heavy rains. These holes, patrolmen say, are filled with water and could cause serious damage to a car if struck at high speeds.

County police said a car driven by Carolyn S. Gerhard, 16, of 104 W. Tenth street, Kaukauna, went out of control on County Trunk Q, a mile and a half east of Kaukauna in the town of Buchanan, about 3:45 p. m. Saturday, breaking off a power pole. Miss Gerhard suffered a possible broken nose and head lacerations. A passenger, Kathleen Niesen, 19, of 723 Lawe street, Kaukauna, was shaken up.

The driver told county police she was going west on Q when her car started to go off the right shoulder. When she tried to bring it back onto the road it went out of control, she said.

Police said the car traveled 138 feet on the north shoulder, then crsosed diagonally 51 feet to the south side and continued for another 72 feet, ripping out 30 feet of fencing and striking the pole.

A car driven by Charles O. Promer, of 1431 E. Wisconsin avenue, went out of control Saturday on Highway 55 in the town of Seymour and ran into a ditch. Promer received bruises and a possible concussion. A passenger, Darrel Griel, 20, of 1018 W. Kamps avenue, suffered lacerations. Police said the car was going east on 55 when it went into the ditch on the left side and rolled over.

Women's Exercise Classes to Begin

A women's exercise class of five keep-fit lessons will be offered by the city recreation department beginning Tuesday, Jan. 19, in the dance studio at 213 N. Appleton street.

Registrations and $3 payments are being taken now at the recreation department office in city hall. Registrations will close Jan. 15. Mrs. Marie Mortell is the instructor.

Ohio Boy Thought Appleton Nice City, Stayed 47 Years

Albert Doepker

In 1912, an 18-year-old youth from Fort Jennings, Ohio, was passing through Appleton and decided it looked like a nice city. He made this decision at 11 a.m. and by 1 p.m. he was working on a construction crew helping to build the First National bank.

On Jan. 1, 1960, Albert Doepker will retire from his job as cashier at the Railway Express agency after working in Appleton for 47 years.

In the interim many things have happened to him. He was on the crew which built the YMCA, and has watched Appleton grow from a city that thought Wisconsin avenue was the beginning of the rural area.

On March 21, 1916, Doepker was accepted as a railway express clerk, and for five months delivered packages from a horse-drawn wagon. The same year he was married. In succeeding years he worked as a vacation replacement and in offices in all parts of the state.

Doepker says through the years the most unusual delivery was a pair of full-grown tigers delivered to the Appleton theater for a vaudeville show. The delivery was made without incident.

With official retirement just a few days away, Doepker plans to take things easy. He said he will continue to work around the house and plans to visit his five children and 19 grandchildren. All of them live in the Fox Cities area.

Woman, 78, Found Dead

Black Creek Death Due to Natural Causes, Coroner Says

The body of a 78-year-old Black Creek woman was found Saturday afternoon in her upstairs apartment in Black Creek where she lived alone.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said Mrs. Effie May Spaulding had been dead about two days. He listed cause of death as a cerebral hemorrhage. She died, he said, sometime Thursday.

Kemps said Mrs. Spaulding was last seen alive about 3 p. m. on Dec. 23 when a niece, Mrs. Kerry Kenske, Black Creek, visited her. Mail deliveries on Christmas eve brought no response. The body was found by Roland R. Gamske, 15, when he attempted to deliver some mail at the apartment Saturday.

Mrs. Spaulding was born Aug. 2, 1881, in the town of Maine. She lived in Seymour from 1948 until she moved to Black Creek last summer.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Leeman Congregational church, Leeman. Friends may call at the Sawyer Funeral home, Shiocton, after noon today until noon Tuesday, then at the church until services. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery, town of Maine.

Mrs. Spaulding is survived by one sister, Mrs. Luella Nelson, Seymour.

Colts Explode in 4th Period, Retain Title

Bob Schnelker (85) of the New York Giants catches a long pass as Baltimore's Carl Taseff misses in a try to knock the ball away in the second quarter of Sunday's National Football league championship game. "Chuck" Conerly threw the pass during the Colts, 31-16 triumph in Baltimore, for the National Football league title.

Unitas, Stiff Defense Star In 31-16 Win

BY JACK DAVIS

Baltimore, Md. —(AP)— The Baltimore Colts, counted out of the race by many after three loses in their first seven games, are the world champions of professional football again today.

They clinched the title for the second straight year by staging an inspired 24-point fourth quarter Sunday to rout the Eastern division champion New York Giants, 31-16.

Baltimore — TD—Moore (60, pass from Unitas), Unitas (4, run), Richardson (12 pass from Unitas), Sample (42, pass interception). PAT—Myhra 4. FG—Myrha (25).

Last year, the Colts defeated the Giants in the playoff, 23-17, in a sudden-death overtime period.

Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas, voted the pro football player of the year, proved to a capacity crowd of nearly 60,000 in Memorial stadium and televiewers in 44 states that he deserved the honor. He threw two touchdown passes and ran for a third. It was the thirty-ninth straight game he has thrown a scoring heave.

Still, it was the defense on both teams that shone.

Colts Take Over

During that wild last period, when Giant quarterback Charley Conerly was trying to get New York back in the ball game with long passes, the Colts' secondary had three interceptions. Conerly had only four intercepted during the entire season.

"Their defense made all their points for them today, not the offense," said Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell. "Both defenses were better than the offensive teams."

If there were a single crucial play for the Giants, How-

'Our Old Men Did a Fine Job,' Chuckles Ewbank After Victory

Baltimore Coach Praises Veteran Defensive Line, Caution of Unitas Against Giants

The stubby Baltimore coach, still glowing over the 31-16 victory his Colts racked up over the New York Giants Sunday for the National Football league championship, was referring to his defensive line.

He was thinking no doubt, of pre-season comments — fortified by a mid-season slump — that age had robbed the Colt forward wall of its brilliance.

But on the money play Sunday it was "the old men" who put the stopper on the surging Giants and helped turn a tense defensive struggle into a rout.

On the March

Leading, 9-7, in the third quarter, New York was on the march and threatening to break the game wide open. With fourth down and inches to go just outside the Baltimore 26, quarterback Charley Conerly called on Alex Webster for a line smash which would have meant a first down.

Webster barreled toward right guard and tried to dive over the battling linemen, only to meet an unyielding mass and wind up in the arms of all-pro end Gino Marchetti (age 32) and tackle Ray Krouse (also 32).

Besides Marchetti and Krouse, the Colt defensive line included all-pro tackle Gene "Big Daddy" Lipscomb, who's pushing 29; 34-year-old tackle Art Donovan; and 30-year-old end Don Joyce.

Ewbank noted that Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas, who tossed two touchdown passes and scored on a 4-yard end sweep, also was under pressure by the Giant defense. He was smeared seven times for losses totaling 56 yards, compared with 45 yards lost by Conerly on five breakdowns in New York pass protection.

Wanted Ball

"We wanted the ball," explained Ewbank. "I stressed to John he shouldn't throw until he was ready

"But I believe his caution led to the victory. He had no interceptions and I believe that was the key to the game.

How does this Colt team compare with the one which beat the Giants, 23-17, in the sudden-death overtime thriller for the 1958 championship?

Not as good, said Giant tackle Dick Modzelewski. "We faced a much better club last year. But you can't take it away from them. They're champs."

East, West 'Ils' Face Lensmen

San Francisco —(AP)— East and West squads face photographers today and then workouts for the Saturday Shrine charity football game in Kezar stadium.

East Coach "Duffy" Daugherty of Michigan State whipped his college stars through a brisk 90-minute drill Sunday. Coach Vill Meek of Southern Methodist gave the West squad the day off. Most players spent their free time sightseeing or watching the Baltimore Colts-New York Giants game on television.

Both Rose Bowl Teams Head Into Final, Exacting Drills

UW Still 6-Point Favorite

No Revenge Motive Needed, Says Hackbart

BY BOB MYERS

Pasadena, Calif. —(AP)— An element known as desire may decide the outcome of the Wisconsin - Washington game in the Rose bowl Friday.

So it appeared today as the rival squads headed in the final, exacting drills for the annual encounter.

'Came To Win'

Certainly no recent West Coast team has exceeded Washington in this department.

"We came down here to win," says the Husky coach, Jim Owens, and there hasn't been a moment in the Washington camp at Long Beach that this dedicated attitude has wavered.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn has been no less determined personally. But there is a thought by unbiased observers that the Badger squad might be taking this as just another football game.

Actually, both teams might be termed squads with a mission. Wisconsin, in one appearance, and the Huskies, in four, have yet to win in the Rose bowl.

Wisconsin is the only Big Ten loser in the series with

Terms Drill 'Horrible'

Jim Owens Cancels Non-Grid Activities

Pasadena, Calif.—(AP)—An unhappy Jim Owens has cancelled all extra-curricular activities for his Washington football team after a Rose bowl practice Sunday which the coach termed "horrible."

No TV Appearance

Owens worked the Huskies through a tough, 2-hour drill at Long Beach Veterans stadium and said their timing was way off. He was particularly dissatisfied with defensive work shown by his reserve unit.

Owens ruled out a scheduled television appearance and a sightseeing trip to Marineland of the Pacific, an oceanarium. He said he would map plans for this afternoon's workout after seeing movies taken of the Sunday practice.

Meanwhile, at East Los Angeles Junior college, Coach Milt Bruhn ran a sweatsuit - clad Wisconsin squad through a short, loosening up session Sunday. He planned mostly brush work this afternoon with no heavy contact work the rest of the week.

Fox Lutheran Beats Alumni

Winners Trail, 20-3, but Rally For 46-40 Win

A bad first-quarter club all season, Fox Valley Lutheran went into another of its early swoons Sunday and then rallied for a 46-40 victory over the Alumni in the Foxes' gym.

The Alumni took an 18-3 first quarter lead and scored the first two points of the second stanza. The Foxes kept chipping away and trailed, 22-12, at the half and 28-25 after three stanzas.

Remains Close

They took the lead for the first time at 35-33 in the fourth quarter and the game stayed close until the final seconds when the winners stalled and the losers fouled. The winners, who were completely outrebounded in the first quarter, controlled the boards in the last period.

The Foxes made three few-

Badgers to Battle Canisius Tonight

Buffalo, N. Y. —(AP)— The Wisconsin Badger cagers, with three victories in eight starts, play Canisius tonight for the title in the Queen City Basketball tournament.

The taller Badgers shot well from the outside Saturday night to beat Boston college, 95-82 in the opening game, and run up their biggest point total of the season. Canisius beat Pittsburgh, 89-82.

More than half of the Wisconsin points were scored by the trio of Marty Gharrity, Fred Clow and Tom Hughbanks who tossed in 19 points each. Their shooting led the improving Badgers to their third victory in their last five starts.

Gharrity Spark

Gharrity was the sparkplug in the second half drive that put the Badgers out of reach by BC loser of six of eight starts. First he put in a basket off the fast break, then drove in for one and added two free throws as Wisconsin outscor-

Warriors Trip UW-M

MU Visits Undefeated DePaul Quint Tonight

Milwaukee —(AP)— "This reminded me of wild animals running all around," said Marquette Basketball Coach Ed Hickey after his Warriors had defeated Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 84-70, Saturday night.

It was pass and run basketball at its best, despite some bad relays, stolen balls and traveling violations.

UWM Coach Russ Rebholz felt the fast pace was too much for the officials, saying, "I'm not blaming the officials for our defeat." He added that he thought his Cardinals could "hold their own with just about any team."

It was the sixth victory in eight starts for the Warriors who will travel to undefeated De Paul (6-0) tonight. It was the first loss in eight games for UWM.

The Cardinals stayed close in the first half, but as soon as the Warriors found the way through the UWM defense the game was decided. Hickey said the aggressiveness and quickness of the Cardinals kept them in the game.

"They hustled more than anyone we've played," Hickey said.

Major Factor

Rebholz said the Cardinals stayed abreast in the first half by driving through the Warriors but failed to keep up the pressure in the second period.

"I told them to, but they wouldn't do it," the coach said.

A crowd of 8,634 saw the Arena game in which Marquette's Don Kojis led the scoring with 30 points. Teammate Walt Mangham added

'Ingo' Agrees To Rematch Next June

Stockholm — (AP) — World Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson agreed today to meet Floyd Patterson in New York next June. The agreement was reached after a conference with a group of New York promoters.

Roy Cohn, head of the New York group which flew here, said he preferred the Polo grounds over Yankee stadium for the rematch.

Humbert Fugazy, veteran promoter, told newsmen that the fight should yield a gate of at least one and a quarter million dollars.

Cohn and "Ingo's" adviser, Edwin Ahlquist, said in concert, "we are in agreement in principle."

Cohn added that his group would now apply to the New York state athletic commission for permission to hold the world title fight. Ahlquist said that once this permission is granted the remainder of the problem is only a detail.

Twenty - three, count 'em, college basketball tournaments are carded for tonight with practically every top team in the country involved in the big ones.

Six tournaments got under way last Saturday, and the other 17 start tonight. They'll all wind up by the end of the week.

In Los Angeles, the final of the first annual Los Angeles Festival could wind up in a replay of last season's NCAA championship between California and West Virginia.

The Bears have won 22 games in a row, the longest winning streak among major schools. They run head-on into Illinois (5-0) in their first game. West Virginia (8-0), led by All-America Jerry West, plays Stanford.

The other two openers match Southern California against Northwestern and UCLA against Michigan.

At Raleigh, N.C., the Dixie classic starts with Utah (8-0) favored to break a 10 - year stranglehold by North Carolina schools. The Utes play Duke in the first round. Wake Forest tangles with Holy Cross, North Carolina State meets Dayton and North Carolina is matched against Minnesota in the other games.

Other Tourneys

Other major tournaments getting under way tonight include the All-College at Oklahoma City, the Blue Grass at Louisville, the Southwest conference at Houston, the Hurricane classic at Miami and the Motor City at Detroit.

In New York, they still are marvelling at Oscar Robertson's 47 points in Cincinnati's 96-56 rout of St. Bonaventure Saturday in the first round of the ECAC Holiday festival.

"Big O" and Co. meet St. Joseph of Philadelphia in the semifinal tonight — the same club they smothered, 123-79, earlier in the season.

St. Joseph advanced with an 84-70 triumph over Manhattan. The other semi-finalists are Iowa, which turned back St. John (NY) 91-84, and New York university, 78-68 victor over Dartmouth.

Two finals are on tap for tonight. Wisconsin meets Canisius for the Queen City title at Buffalo, and Evansville plays Wittenberg for the Evansville, Ind. Invitational championship.

No 4-7 overall, the Foxes meet Wisconsin Lutheran here Jan. 8 in their next start. The Foxes trailed Xavier, 3-11, after one quarter in their most recent victory.

Thief Lifts Marsh's Watch but Misses Rose Bowl Tickets

Pasadena, Calif—(AP)—Someone stole the souvenir watch presented by the Tournament of Roses association to Fred Marsh, assistant coach of the Wisconsin football team.

But the thief overlooked something even more valuable—10 Rose Bowl tickets also in Marsh's hotel room here at the time of the burglary.

ell reasoned, it was in the third quarter when New York, on the Colts' 26, decided to go for a first down on a fourth-and-1 situation. The Giants were leading, 9-7, at the time.

Halfback Alex Webster tried to barrel through his right tackle spot, but the Colt line surged in on him en masse, and Baltimore took over the ball on downs.

"The team seemed to go down a bit after that," Howell said, "though they never stopped trying."

Baltimore coach "Weeb" Ewbank, a beaming, satisfied soul, also credited that play with being an important one.

"I think holding them like that fired us up," he said.

That they were. Unitas and Lenny Moore were the key men in a 86-yard, 10 - play drive that produced the Colts' touchdown early in the fourth quarter to put them ahead 14-9. A Unitas to Moore pass and run play moved the ball to the New York 12. A few plays later the versatile Unitas rolled out to his right and scored from the 4 standing up. From then on the Colts were home free.

Same Combination

It was the same great Unitas - Moore combination that clicked for the first quarter touchdown that gave the Colts a 7-0 lead. This score—on a 60-yard play — came the first time the Colts had the ball. Unitas faked a handoff to Alan Ameche and then, from his own 40, fired the ball to Moore. Fleet Lenny took it on the New York 38 and sped all the way for the score.

The Giants started out impressively, moving quickly into Colt territory. But Conerly was caught 18 yards behind the line by rushing defensive end Gino Marchetti, and Don Chandler punted over the goal line.

New York got going again late in the quarter on a beautiful draw play, with Mel Triplett shooting down the middle for 28 yards to the Colts 17. Then came a break that could have had some influence on the outcome.

Rote Falls

Conerly barely overshot Rote in the end zone. Rote dived for the ball and fell. Colt halfback Johnny Sample, a step behind, fell over Rote, and his knee hit Rote's chin, inflicting a mild concussion. Rote didn't get back in action until midway of the third quarter.

The Giants worked the ball down to the 3-yard line before the Colt defense stiffened.

Pat Summerall came in then to kick the first of three field goals which kept the Giants in the thick of it until the roof fell in that last quarter.

New York played the Colts off their feet during the third quarter — Baltimore didn't get a first down until the period was almost over — but the Giants were unable to muster more than a third field goal. Summerall's last effort was a 15-yarder climaxing a drive that started on the Colts 14.

Then came that fourth.

After the Colts had taken the lead, Conerly tried to get the Giants downfield with a 25-yard pass aimed at Rote. But little Andy Nelson from Memphis State grabbed the pigskin and ran it back 16 yards to the Giant 14. After one plunge by Ameche, Unitas lobbed a corner pass to Richardson for all the scoring the Colts would need.

Conerly, still hoping to pull it out, fired two more long ones. Sample got in the way of both of those, however. The Maryland State scatback returned one of them 42 yards for a touchdown, literally fighting his way for the last three yards while two red-and-white jerseyed players tried to drag him down. Sample returned his second interception 34 yards before he was racked up.

Dent Goal Line

The Giants finally managed to dent the Colts goal line with a 32-yard pass from Conerly which end Bob Schnelker caught about two yards inside the end zone. But there were only 32 seconds remaining, and the issue had been decided.

The statistics were much closer than the score. New York chalked up 16 first downs to Baltimore's 13, and outrushed the Colts, 118 yards to 73. Baltimore had a slight edge in passing, with Unitas completing 18 or 29 tries for 264 yards, and Conerly completing 17 in 38 tries for 250 yards. None of Unitas' heaves was intercepted, and neither team fumbled. New York was penalized 23 yards to 30 for Baltimore.

The game grossed $666,281. With taxes, rentals and operating expenses taken out, it left a net take of $555,743.16. The Colt players and coaches will get a check for $4,674.44, with $3,083.27 going to each loser.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, an avid Washington Redskin rooter, stopped in the Giants dressing room after the game to offer his condolences.

He asked Conerly if he were hurt from the pounding he took from the big Colt linemen. "Just my pride," grinned the graying veteran.

Rebounding was also a major factor as Kojis grabbed 25 and Mangham 22, equal to the combined total of UWM. The Warriors got 76 all together. Kojis is now averaging more than 20 rebounds a game.

Early in the game UWM tied the score three times before Kojis and Mangham began to hit and the Warriors pulled to a 20-11 edge and never trailed again. The score was 44-37 Marquette at halftime.

UWM closed the gap to 46-40 before the Warriors shot away to a 70-58 margin and finished the game with reserves.

McGregor Blasts Ferris

AAU Won't Sanction Series Of Games by Swedish Cagers

Boulder, Colo. — (AP) — The chairman of the AAU's basketball committee said today the AAU was "perfectly justified" in refusing to sanction a series of games in this country with a Swedish national cage team.

"The AAU is the governing body of international sports," said G. Russell Lyons. "These matters must be handled through channels. The Swedish incident is not a thing that developed quickly. Everyone was told some time ago the proposal was going to be turned down.

Verbal Poke

Lyon's comment came shortly after Jim McGregor, 37, an American who has made a career of coaching national basketball teams in Europe, took a verbal poke at Dan Ferris, head of the AAU. McGregor (who spoke at Appleton High school recently) said Ferris "is hurting our sports prestige around the world" because he is "trying to enforce a policy of isolationism."

McGregor made his remarks after Ferris had announced in New York the AAU had refused to sanction the series of games involving the Swedish team in America. Ferris said the reason was that a professional promoter — McGregor — was arranging the Swedish tour.

Joe Caldwell Paces North's 27-17 Win

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—Joe Caldwell, the Miamian who set a pass record at Army and pitched the North to a 27-17 victory over the South in a Shrine charity game Saturday night, says he's through with football.

"I think I've played about enough," said the West Point cadet who is bound to three years military service after his graduation in June. "I have no plans for professional football and — right now — I intend to make the army my career."

Caldwell completed 13 out of 20 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown in the Shrine game in the Orange bowl.

"I think our line, offensively and defensively, did a great job," Caldwell said. "I had no problem. The protection was just tops."

Caldwell said his first choice for army service is with the engineers and he hopes to be stationed in the states. He plans to marry his Miami high school sweetheart, Geegee Mathers, in June and said, "that's the best pass I ever completed."

Salmon, Cheese Riding on Outcome of Rose Bowl Tilt

Washington — A Washington salmon and a Wisconsin cheese will be riding on the outcome of the Rose bowl football game.

Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash.) bet Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.) a 24-pound salmon against a 12-pound longhorn cheese on the New year's day game between the Washington Huskies and Wisconsin Badgers.

Mack said the wager was made when the two "fell into a terrific argument" over the merits of the two teams as they returned from the White House where they left cranberries for the president recently.

"My salmon is so big that I'm really offering you odds of two to one, but I don't mind because I don't think you have a chance to win," Mack a former Washington studen, told Laird.

The Wisconsin graduate replied:

"The Badgers have been waiting to redeem their Rose bowl record since their loss in 1953 and I have full confidence I'll be receiving a Washington salmon soon."

Syracuse's Davis Doesn't Like Bed, Sleeps on Floor

The 205-pound sophomore from Elmira, N. Y., believes the beds are too soft at the University of Houston training site for the Cotton Bowl game.

This would appear to provide ample reason for a Wisconsin crusade.

But Bruhn said this sore point has not been played upon as a pep talk to his squad.

"But," he added, "I think the kids are well aware of the record. It's been mentioned back home."

Dale Hackbart, crack Badger quarterback, conceded that the players have mentioned the Wisconsin 7-0 loss to Southern California in 1953. But he pointed out that none of this crew was around that year.

Hackbart indicated that the team really doesn't need a "revenge" motive; the will to win is strong enough as it stands.

The victory usually then goes to the team with just a little extra desire in the game.

Sugar Bowl Tennis Tournament Delayed

New Orleans —(AP)— The Sugar bowl tennis tournament, delayed by rain and interrupted byl darkness, was to resume today with unfinished second round matches and the start of doubles play.

Third-seeded Mike Davies of England, the only seeded player left in the tournament, was leading Don Kierbow of Sacramento, Calif., 6-3, at nightfall Sunday.

Sunday afternoon Sacred Heart nudged Menasha St. Mary, 47-40, with Gary Hietpas (22) and Pat Gendron (15) scoring all but 10 of the victors' points. Bill Martin paced the losers with 21 markers.

Holy Name routed Pius, 62-12, as Kroner counted 27 although reserves played much of the game. Holy Name was on top, 24-1, at the first rest.

St. Joseph rallied to beat St. Mary, 38-36, as "Rocky" Bleier tossed in the tying goal with 20 seconds left and the winner just before the final horn. He finished with 27 points.

St. Margaret Mary topped St. Therese, 35-25, paced by Jim Moder's 15. The victors coasted in after holding a 15-4 first quarter lead.

Seven Big 10 Quints Face Tourney Action

Ohio State Meets Kentucky Tonight; MSU at Butler

By The Associated Press

Big Ten basketball teams, scattered throughout the nation in various holiday tournaments, hope to fatten their intersectional records before settling down to the conference race which opens Saturday.

No fewer than seven teams will be involved in tourney play from coast to coast today while Ohio State and Michigan State journey to foreign courts for their share of competition.

Ohio State probably has the toughest assignment since the Buckeyes must play at Kentucky. Michigan State will be at Butler and idle Purdue waits until Tuesday night before entertaining Montana State.

Tourney Winners

Iowa and Wisconsin, both victorious Saturday, continue play in the East. Iowa, a 91-84 victor over St. John in holiday activity in New York's Madison Square Garden, will engage New York university. Wisconsin faces Canisius in the Queen City tournament in Buffalo after downing Boston college, 95-82, Saturday.

Indiana is pitted against Maryland in Louisville's Blue Grass invitational and Minnesota faces North Carolina in the Dixie classic. Illinois, Michigan and Northwestern will all be busy in the Los Angeles tournament.

Illinois, the Big Ten's only undefeated team, meets unbeaten California, the defending national champion, in its initial West coast encounter.

Northwestern's foe is Southern California and Michigan goes against UCLA.

New Year's day when the Badgers meet Washington.

ed BC, 12-8, and took a commanding 59-47 bulge with 15 minutes remaining. The Badgers poured in 51 points after leading 44-40 at halftime.

The Badgers kept going to build up a 17-point margin before Johnny Erickson cleared the bench. Boston college never really was in the game after the early moments, despite a 20-point early performance of Jim Hooley.

The Badgers' fast break offense, clicking on a series of fine passes, was too much for the Eagles in the second half, which also saw some timely scoring by reserves.

The Boston Celtics still are rolling toward the National Basketball association's consecutive game winning streak. But the budding streak of the St. Louis Hawks has come to an end.

The Celtics, who have lost only four of their 32 games, ran their winning streak to 15 games Sunday night by downing the Cincinnati Royals, 122-111. The record of 17 was hung up by the old Washington Capitols.

The Hawks, leading the Western division by 7½ games, had their string snapped at six games Saturday when they dropped a 117-104 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

2 Victories

Minneapolis' Lakers posted two victories over Detroit, winning, 108-105, Saturday and 119-109 Sunday. In the only other game over the weekend, the New York Knicks turned back the Philadelphia Warriors, 122-116, Saturday but still remained deep in the Eastern division cellar.

The Celtics' fifteenth straight came despite a 41-point performance by Cincinnati's Jack Twyman. In downing the Royals for the thirteenth successive time over a 2-year span, the Celtics got 25 points from Bob Cousy and 17 each from Tom Heinsohn, Bill Sharman and Frank Ramsay.

Elgin Baylor came up with 28 points in each game as the Lakers moved within one game of the second place Pistons in the Western division.

Two Rookie QBs Will Lead Syracuse Attack

Orange, Hit by Injuries, Count on Easterly, Sarette

Houston, Tex. —(AP)— Two rookie quarterbacks will pitch the Syracuse attack against the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton bowl Friday.

Dave Sarette, so nearsighted that he sees only a blur at 30 yards, came out of the New Hampshire hills to complete 47 of 83 passes this season for 763 yards and 10 touchdowns.

If the 178-pound Sarette eased Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's quarterback headache, Dick Easterly wiped it away.

Scores

Easterly, at 21 two years older than Sarette, hit on 21 of 39 passes for 353 yards and seven scores. He led a second unit that played an impressive role in Syracuse's march through 10 football foes to a national championship.

Syracuse coaches are counting on this pair to produce, since injuries and ailments have slowed several key running backs. But halfbacks Ernie Davis and Mark Weber may be ready to go against Texas and only second-unit fullback John Nichols' remained on the doubtful list. He has an injured toe.

Easterly's 53.8 - per cent completion record fell just shy of Sarette's 59 per cent.

Fullback Threw

This from a youngster who passed so poorly as a T-formation quarterback at North High in Syracuse the center frequently snapped the ball through Easterly's legs for a fullback to do the throwing.

Sarette, a basketball sensation in his home town, Manchester, N.H., talked Syracuse coaches into giving him a football scholarship. Easterly entered unannounced, finally won a scholarship as understudy to Sarette on the Syracuse frosh team two years ago.

Both picked up experience running enemy plays against the varsity. Easterly practiced passing on his own all summer.

When Bobby Thomas, slated to guide the Orange this year, developed back trouble, Sarette stepped in. Easterly, a surplus halfback at season's start, pulled into the No. 2 job.

Boston College's New Coach Will Stress Passing

Newton, Mass. —(AP)— Boston college will feature a professional-type offense and continued emphasis on passing under new head football Coach Ernie Hefferle.

Boston hired the 44-year-old Hefferle away from the Washington Redskins. He has signed a 3-year contract for an undisclosed salary as successor to Mike Holovak, the school announced Saturday.

Trying his hand as head coach for the first time in 22 years in the business, Hefferle admits he likes "lots of passing."

Cassville Man One Of Two Leading National Rodeo

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Only two contests remained in the National Finals Rodeo today.

Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., the all-around champion for the fifth straight year, led bull riding and was in a strong position to win it. Jack Buschbom of Cassville, Wis., topped the bareback bronc riders and also was in good shape to take the championship.

The other three titles—saddle bronc, calf roping and steer wrestling—already had been stowed away.

Minneapolis '6' Tips Milwaukee in Overtime

Minneapolis—(AP)—Cy Whiteside's slap shot from 30 feet gave Minneapolis a 2-1 overtime victory over Milwaukee in the International Hockey league Sunday night.

Whiteside's score climaxed a Minneapolis comeback that saw the Millers tie at 1-1 on Harry Ottenbreit's goal in the third period.

Milwaukee scored in the first period on a long shot by Tony Poeta.

Bobcats Smash Marquette by 8 Points Twice

Grab Sole Lead In Central Loop With Vengeance

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—The Green Bay Bobcats got even with the Marquette Sentinels over the weekend—in spades.

Stung by two successive 1-goal losses at the Sentinels' hands, the vengeful Green Bay icemen demolished their bewildered guests with a pair of high-powered performances, 12-4 and 8-0, before 4,089 patrons at the Brown county arena.

The satisfying sweep left Player - coach Johnny Mayasich and his colleagues alone atop the Central Hockey league, a half game ahead of the defending champion Rochester Mustangs, who tripped the Des Moines Ice Hawks, 7-4, in their only weekend assignment.

This combination of circumstances set up a natural first place showdown between the two Central powers, who will duel at the arena Saturday night and again Sunday afternoon.

Goalie Works

Exerting wilting pressure all the way in both attractions, the unrelenting home forces didn't permit Sentinel goalie Jim Demarinis a dull moment. Demarinis, in addition to being frisked for those 20 goals, was forced to kick out the staggering total of 93 shots, 52 of them in Saturday night's rout.

The Bobcats, determined to pad a 5-2 lead, concentrated their heaviest bombardment in the final period of Saturday night's game, whistling seven goals past, around and under the harrassed Demarinis for their most productive period of the season.

His Bobcat counterpart, in contrast, had a comparatively quiet weekend. Jim Mattson, aided by the best defense the home talent have exhibited this season, found it necessary to waylay only 22 shots in the opener—just two in the third period of that one—and 26 Sunday afternoon when he registered his first shutout of the season.

13 Share Scoring

The double victory, as a matter of fact, was strictly a team affair. A total of 13 players, a new high for the season, shared in the scoring and six of them contributed five or more points.

The ringleader was Paul Johnson, who went all the way in both games despite a painful back injury sustained earlier in the week in a fall down two flights of icy stairs. The spectacular Scandinavian engineered the hat trick in both games and finished with 7 points.

Peter Buchmann, an oft-unsung hero, and Appleton's Ron Stenlund, former teammates at Michigan Tech, each weighed in with six points while Dick Dougherty, Mayasich and Dick Dier, who missed Sunday's game because of a knee injury, each chipped in with 5.

Gerry Marttila, who sat out the final period of Sunday's game with ankle hurts and Jackie Poole, returning to action after a 6-week layoff with a broken wrist, collected four apiece. Mike Horn, another casualty, had three, Tony Bukovich Jr., Bill Baylor and Tom Neveau two each and Bruce Shutte.

Saturday night's opener was close—for the first two periods. Dier catapulted the Bobcats into a 2-0 lead in the first period, Ron Stenlund and Horn assisting, but the Sentinels crashed the board while Dougherty was sitting out a tripping penalty.

Open Up

Buchmann "beat" Demarinis early in the third period, after getting the puck from Ron Stenlund, to make it 3-1. Marquette's Tim McLaughlin retaliated at 9:58 to again cut the Bobcats's bulge to one goal.

That, however, was the beginning of the end for the Sentinels. Ron Stenlund, skating across from the right, whipped one past Demarinis at 17:56, Dier and Buchmann getting assists, and Dougherty kicked in a Horn slap shot from the blue line at 18:59 to give the 'cats a 5-2 edge going into the final period.

Johnson got the home forces off and skating in Sunday's matinee, beating Demarinis on a breakaway from the right at 1:28 and again at 16:47, this time with some spectacular stickhandling and a brilliant fake.

Blues' Line Charge Decisive

Packer Draftee Tom Moore Scores 8 Points in 'Star Game

Montgomery, Ala. —(AP)— A beefy, hard - charging line proved to be a deciding factor in the North's 20-8 triumph in the twenty - second annual Blue-Gray football game.

The burly linmen, most of them from Big 10 schools, got the jump on the Southern all-stars early in Saturday's game and remained in command all the way.

Narrows Lead

Rival coaching staffs agreed inspired line play was mainly responsible for the second consecutive North win. It narrowed the South's lead in the series to 13-8.

The North all-stars went 85 yards in 11 plays for the first touchdown. 77 yards in 12 plays for the next and the last one came on a 52-yard drive in eight plays.

Vanderbilt's Tom Moore (No. 1 Green Bay Packer draftee) scored the only Gray touchdown on a 23-yard pass from Harvey White of Clemson in the third quarter. Then Charlie Milstead of Texas A&M on a fake placement attempt passed to Moore who drove over for a 2-pointer.

Head Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, who directed the winning strategy both this year and last, was warm in his praise of the Blue line as was Oklahoma's Gomer Jones, the line coach.

"Our offensive line did a good job of opening holes in the South line," said Jones. "And they really kept the pressure on the Rebels all afternoon.

Light-Shadow Era

Pulitzer Prize Winner Examines Momentous Decade—Atomic 1950s

BY RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

In three more days, a decade ends and history turns the page on the 1950s.

It is a long page, packed with spectacular, terrifying and heartening developments. It records new concepts swiftly brought to reality, radical changes, new visions of the future sharp breaks with the past. And it is marked by two clearly defined characteristics, shadow and light.

Ten years of great change, challenge and achievement are coming to an end. As a reporter roving the world, Relman Morin has been an eyewitness to the developing history of the decade. Twice he has won Pulitzer prizes for national and international reporting. Now he reviews the decade in a series of four articles.

The Shadow

A hydrogen bomb incinerated an island in 1953. A Russian rocket capable of carrying such a bomb accurately hit the moon in 1959. Rocket-armed submarines, powered by the atom, prowled unbelievable distances without surfacing. The free world established launching bases for intermediate missiles around the world. The Russians replied that they have the ICBM, capable of reaching any spot on earth — and they are mass-producing it on assembly lines. Newspaper headline of Oct. 2, 1952: "Stalin Says War Is Inevitable Between Communism and Capitalism."

The Light

Atomic reactors began generating electricity for homes and factories. Medical science swept forward in giant strides with the Salk vaccine, new drugs for mental illness, isotopes and other weapons in the battle against cancer. Nations — although politcal enemies in some instances — pooled efforts in the greatest study of the physical earth ever conducted. The centuries-old dream of a united Europe came closer to reality. Europeans formed the Iron and Steel community in 1952, EURATOM in 1958 and the common market patterns of 1959. Apparently reversing the policy of his predecessors, Nikita Khrushchev said in 1959, "Let us disarm and compete in peaceful coexistence."

Light and Shadow

Red china, openly aggressive, bathed Tibet in blood. The Dalai Lama fled and told his story to millions of horrified Buddhists in the Orient. Chinese troops invaded Indian border points. The result of these actions — sharp anti-Chinese or anti-communist reactions in nations previously friendly. A similar pattern developed in the middle east. Arab nations, previously drifting toward the communists, were angrily accusing Russia and red China of subversion and meddling by the end of the decade.

Marshal Tito pulled Yugoslavia out of the Communist bloc. But his was still a communist government, standing somewhere between the authoritarian east and the free west.

While Russians talked peace at the end of the '50s red China became steadily more menacing. Did this signal a split between Moscow and Peiping? Or was it because the second 5-year plan had not achieved its production goals, because the Chinese peasant was still hungry and miserable, and because a phony enemy was needed.

Incomes Rise

Western Europe, with American money priming the pump, rebounded from the thin post war years to burgeoning prosperity By 1959, the increase in per capita income in West Germany was $371 a year, in the United Kingdom $360 a year. (In the United States, $530 annually.)

Japan's industrial production more than doubled the figure for the previously great base period, 1934-36. The output of machinery quadrupled, chemicals tripled, electric power doubled. Japan became the leading ship builder in the world.

But in the under-developed nations of the Orient, the middle east and Latin America, the annual increase in per capita income was less than $10 a year. Standards of living improved little, if at all.

Populations Climb

Hunger and illiteracy, aggravated by the population explosion, lay heavily over vast areas of the earth. Demographers estimated the world's population at 2.8 billion in 1959. They predicted it would reach 6.3 billion by the end of the century.

Red China boasted a census taken in 1954 showed the population at 601,912,371. It was increasing by 12 million a year. At that rate, there would be more than a billion Chinese on earth before the end of the century. China grew steadily hungrier.

United Nations experts said more than half the people in the world, over 10 years of age, are illiterate.

The gap between the rich nations and the poor was rapidly — and dangerously—widening.

Plan Food Future

Scientists visualized using atomic energy for increasing food production in hungry countries by irrigating their arid land. They visualized "cattle of the sea," a method in which edible fish would be bred, corraled and marketed exactly like livestock. They looked to the day when weather would be controlled, through drawing cold air from the poles and warm air from the equator, again to increase food production and alleviate the penalties of poverty.

"Our age," said the historian Arnold Toynbee, "will be remembered, not for its horrifying crimes or astonishing inventions, but because it is the first age since the dawn of history in which mankind dared to believe it practical to make the benefits of civilization available to the whole human race."

Thus, in these 10 years, the single most startling fact emerged, a reality clearly spelled out in the shorthand of science:

Today, technology can spread universal death or provide universal abundance. It can make tomorrow unbelievably bright or the most horrible since time began.

The 50s were more than a decade. They were an age.

Mailman's Woes Get More Complicated

Lockport, N.Y. —(AP)— It's not rain, nor sleet, nor storm that's keeping mail carriers from swift completion of their appointed rounds here. It's painted porches and locked gates.

Postmaster William A. Maillet has asked residents to relocate their mailboxes or put out a box for mail in such cases.

No Members Wanted For Silent Squadron

Omaha, Neb. —(AP)— The air force's Strategic Air Command has one squadron it hopes to keep small.

It's called the Silent Squadron and every SAC officer or airman killed in a motor vehicle accident is added to its roster by the command's safety division at Offutt air force base here. So far this year, 94 names have been added to the list.

Miniature Paper Airplane Does Spectacular Stunts

BY CAPPY DICK

The paper airplane which is today's fun-project is easy to make because all you have to do is fold it, then add a paper clip to the nose as a weight. By adjusting the pitch of the tail and wings you can cause it to fly in a circle, perform loops and do other spectacular stunts.

Start with an oblong of paper four by six inches in size. At one long edge (see dotted line A-B in Figure 1) crease one fourth inch of the paper. Then fold the paper once more, making a double fold at the edge.

At the exact center, as shown by the dotted C-D in Figure 2, fold the paper again. It will now look like Figure 3. While the paper is folded in this position, outline with pencil the shape of an airplane as shown by the dotted lines in Figure 3. With scissors, cut along this outline. This will make both sides of the plane exactly alike.

Open the plane and crease the tail and the wings downward as in Figure 4. Slip a paper clip over the nose of the plane, also as in Figure 4. This will hold the body together as well as provide weight.

The plane is now ready for flying. Launch it by holding it between your thumb and forefinger and pushing it gently forward into the air.

By bending the wings and the tail, you will learn how to adjust the plane so it flies exactly as you want.

County Collects $5 Million in Social Security

Nearly 7,000 Get Benefits; Number Increases 56 Per Cent

Nearly 7,000 people in Outagamie county draw almost $5 million in social security each year.

Social security administration figures show 6,812 men, women, and children in the county are collecting at the rate of $4,999,536 a year as of Feb. 28, 1959.

The number of beneficiaries has increased 56 per cent in three years, from 4,377. Each recipient receives an average of $733 per year, a gain of 16 per cent from three years ago.

Economic Force

The social security benefits have become an economic force in the county, representing four cents out of every retail dollar spent.

Who gets these benefits? Retired and disabled workers, and dependents of these workers—wives, children, or parents'— form the main group. The money was collected from payrolls during the last 20 years and set aside to provide for future needs.

Continued liberalization of the program has brought the increase in benefits. It is expected that social security will be expanded even further after congress convenes in 1960.

The expansion will affect payments to disabled workers. One of the rules expected to be stricken says that a disabled worker may not draw benefits until he reaches 50.

Humphrey Seen as Roosevelt of 1960

White Says Senator Gets Kefauver, Harriman Support

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington—The long shot in the field of Democratic presidential aspirants, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, faces the new year hoping most of all that the political calendar can be turned back.

White

Humphrey, the most liberal of all the candidates, has a single thin chance. This is that the Democratic party can be persuaded to return to the tone and purposes it had in the days of the new deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Curiously, this outstanding progressive must depend, in the end, on looking forward.

His hostly intensive campaign has taken him into some 30 states. Even his friends do not claim all his amiably frenzied exertions have set the public aflame. The polls, for what they may be worth, are not kind to him. Campaign money is not flooding the Humphrey headquarters.

But some silver linings are seen by the Humphrey people. These are his rising from among "the politicians" rather than "the people." For purposes of the coming Democratic national convention, the politicians are more useful than the people.

A good many former backers of one of the most authentic of the old New Dealers, Averell Harriman, are lining up for Humphrey, particularly in the middle west. Some former Kefauver men now are moving in the Humphrey direction.

It would be all too easy to overestimate the value of these quiet marches into the Humphrey movement. Neither Harriman, a defeated ex-governor of New York, nor Kefauver, who is concentrating now on re-election to the senate, will be greatly important at the Democratic convention.

No Santa Claus

The Humphrey advisers are among the most realistic politicians in the business and have absolutely no belief in Santa Claus. Even the principal link to the Roosevelt era among these advisers, James H. Rowe, Jr., is quite aware that 1960 is not 1932 or '36 or '40 or '44. These men are the first to concede that the road is uphill all the way.

Still, though not leaping with joyous confidence, they have drawn some heart from the continuing recruitments. These incidents do show this: Humphrey has got enough of what it takes to begin to draw up a party mosaic basically similar to that which served Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt made and sustained a thoroughly improbable coalition, running from aristocratic delta planters to Detroit auto workers. Neither Humphrey nor anybody around him supposes for a moment that the south will give him so much as the time of day. The Humphreyites do believe, however, and apparently with some justice, that he can raise a pretty good farm-labor alliance everywhere but in the south.

He has the first requirement, the undoubted good wishes of most of big labor. He has the second requirement, the passionate loyalty of minority groups whose chief political interest is in civil rights. He has a part of the third requirement. The liberal big-state farm groups like him, even if the southern farm groups surely do not.

Beyond all this Humphrey needs something else: To be able to prove in due time to northern party bosses he can gather about himself the old new dealers and become the true heir to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Every local or regional Harriman or Kefauver leader who comes into the Humphrey camp will help in some degree to build up the argument that he is really the FDR of 1960.

Woman Injured In Accident At New London

New London — A Milwaukee woman was injured about 1:05 p.m. Thursday when the car in which she was a passenger was involved in a traffic accident on Highway 45, south of the New London city limits.

Arlene Kuenzli, 29, complained of a sore neck. She was riding in a car driven by Eugene A. Kuenzli, Milwaukee. The Kuenzli car was going north when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Gordon R. Baxter, route 2, New London, which also was going north and was unable to stop, city police said.

Willard R. Kluge, 1201 Mill street, and Mrs. Bernice M. Freeman, 1113 Mill street, were involved in an accident as both were backing out of driveways on opposite sides of the street about 12:50 p.m Thursday.

Social Security Questions and Answers

Q. How long before I reach retirement age can I apply for benefits?

A. The application may be made within three months immediately prior to the month of entitlement.

Q. I am 66 and my wife is 63. I am going to be eligible for $116 per month when I retire. How much will my wife receive?

A. If you retire and your wife has not yet reached age 65 but decides to apply for her wife's benefits immediately, there will be a small reduction in her benefit amount. The amount of this reduction depends on the number of months for which she is paid benefits before age 65. If your benefit is $116 and your wife begins receiving payments the month she is 63 years old her wife's benefit would be $48.40. If she chose to wait until age 65, her benefit would be $58. We suggest she inquire with you; we will compute the amount of reduction; advise her of the various factors involved and she may then choose between filing immediately or waiting until later.

Q. I am not ready to retire but my wife has a social security number. Does she have to wait until I retire to draw her benefits?

A. If she doesn't have enough social security credits to draw benefits on her own earnings account, she would have to wait until you were eligible to receive benefits. If, however, she has sufficient coverage, and has reached retirement age, she could become eligible to payments based on her own earnings before you retire. She should, in any case, inquire. We will secure her earnings record and inform her whether or not she qualifies for benefits on her own account.

Q. Is it necessary that I have reached 65 before I check my social security?

A. No. We suggest that you check your social security before you reach retirement age (age 62 for women, age 65 for men) or before you plan to retire.

Farmers Aid Sheep in Flood

Devils River Rises Along Highway 57; Strands Flock in Path

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — In the town of Rockland, neighbors pitched in to effect the rescue of some 40 sheep stranded by a flash flood in Devils river early this morning.

Plight of the flock, owned by Dan Baumgart was noted about 8:30 a.m The sheep, pastured in the flats just north of Eiler's corner along Highway 57, took refuge on a single remaining hummock inches above the rising tide.

A truck owned by Jerome Vande Walle, livestock trucker, was successfully backed from the highway to within a few feet of the 'island' before the motor became smothered in 3½ feet of swirling water. A second Vande Walle truck backed in to provide additional aid.

After Baumgart, Vande Walle and other neighbors 'decked' the animals in the first vehicle, the second truck, assisted by tractors driven by Louis Janssen and Ray Hutjens, pulled the caravan back to high ground.

Kennedy to Work for Repeal of Loyalty Oath For Student Loans

Madison — (AP) — Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) has advised the University of Wisconsin that he plans to work next year for repeal of loyalty oath provisions of a federal student loan program.

In a letter to President Conrad A. Elvehjem made public today, Kennedy said he hoped the university's recent stand against the oath feature "will pave the way for other state universities to adopt similar stands."

Wisconsin, Kennedy said, is the first state university to take a stand against the oath provision. It is part of the 1958 National Defense Education act which makes loan funds available to colleges and universities.

Kennedy said a bill to repeal the oath provision is in a senate committee.

To Your Good Health

People With Known Weak Hearts Should Slow Down

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

Mr. R. B. C., a healthy, semi-retired business man, wrote to me:

Dr. Molner

"In business, I tried to analyze each process in advance, as I always believed that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

"We read and hear about so many perfectly well people who just drop dead from heart trouble. If possible I would like to use my own ounce of prevention to prolong our lives of possible."

Then he outlined the way he eats and lives; a husky breakfast, skimpy lunch, solid dinner. Sometimes a small martini, never more than one highball in the evening, from one to not more than four cigarets a day, sunbathing, moderate but regular activity, like gardening, cutting the grass, and so on. A few pounds overweight not much.

He likes butter — and likes four or five pats and lots of salt if he has a baked potato. So, he asks, "What about cholesterol?"

Usually Know

Let me say one thing at the outset: Yes, many unexpected deaths occur from heart disease. However, most of these unexpected cases are of people who knew for some time that their hearts weren't up to par.

Very particularly, I can think of at least one physician, and a very good one, who collapsed in his own driveway one night and died there. It was a shock to all who knew him, of course, and it was, to many people, including some of his patients, a surprise.

Yet we knew, and he knew, that his electrocardiograms hadn't been good for a long time. There must, under the circumstances, have been other signs that he recognized very well. For whatever reasons, he chose to keep going full speed, working until all hours, getting up in the night for emergencies. And one night all this caught up with him.

I've known some people quite well, some casually, who were aware that their hearts were weak, yet by their own choice insisted on living at the same rapid pace, on the theory that it was better than slowing down.

Both Ridiculous

Such an idea, to me, is utterly ridiculous.

And there are people who are convinced, for some reason, real or imagined, that they have heart trouble and thereafter insist on behaving like semi-invalids.

That, I think, is just as ridiculous.

I wanted to make clear that these cases of people "dropping dead without warning" aren't nearly as common as one supposes. True, a clot or embolism can bring death without warning to a person, who is, to the best of anyone's knowledge, in perfect health. It does sometimes happen. But it is the exception, not the rule. Most of the time we have clear forewarning.

By the same token, we most certainly can take the ounce of prevention and protect our hearts and prolong our lives.

Stamps in the News

Commemorative Series Issued by British Colony

BY SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Basutoland, the little British colony in southern Africa, has just issued an unusual looking set of three new stamps commemorating the institution of Basutoland's National council.

In addition to the commemorative designs, each stamp shows a portrait of Queen Elizabeth and the St. Edward's Crown.

The 3-pence black and light green depicts Chief Moshoeshoe, the first Paramount Chief of Basutoland who promulgated the first written laws of the country The 1-shilling red brown and dark green illustrates the octagonal Basutoland Council Chamber built in 1910.

The 1-shilling, 3-pence blue and orange shows a local inhabitant receiving the benefits of peace (represented by a dove) and plenty (ears of sorghum) under the control of the Basutoland National Council (the mace).

The local language is "sotho" and the word "Lesotho" which also appears on each stamp is the Sotho word for Basutoland. It thus appears for the first time on Basutoland stamps.

Scott's United States Specialized Stamp catalogue has just been published. It contains 5,922 price changes and many revisions of listings. The 621-page book sells for $4. Besides the detailed listings of U.S. issues in all the customary divisions, there are sections on Confederate states, Danish West Indies, Guam, Hawaii, United Nations and the U.S. administration issues of Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

Brazil has issued two sets of stamps. A 6.50-crueizeros commemorates the Lusitan-Brazilian study held under the auspices of UNESCO. Another commemorative honors the International Fair of Commerce.

Loss of Faith and Patriotism An Internal Disease in America

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

New York — Wearisomely one listens to the self-defeating suicidal conversations of those who have suddenly discovered that the United States is becoming a second rate nation, that we are a corrupt people, that our currency is being debased. What is the cause of such a retreat from pride of accomplishment and the dignity of belonging to the freest nation on earth?

Sokolsky

One does not hear such talk among the workers in mill or factory, or among the farmers and miners. It is usual to hear it among the rich and among so-called intellectuals. It is the language of those who have benefited most by being Americans.

American life is not only what one has in the bank or his stomach. Economic determinism is as ugly when it is American as it is when it is Russian. A belly philosophy is a miserable one to cling to and those who do usually suffer chagrin in their older years as their miserliness leaves them poor of everything but money. It is among these richer folks that there is this talk about the United States going to hell because they continue to make undue profits and have to pay unbelievably high taxes, if they do not manage to avoid or evade taxes.

Nothing but Money

It is these same persons who, when it was fashionable, were all for sending billions of dollars and the products of American labor to all parts of the earth for all sorts of purposes. But now that the dollar is growing tight these same persons are devoting themselves to the unmentionable game of finding havens for their capital. They do not call what they are doing a flight of capital, but that is what it is.

They live in peril of losing their material way of life, because they have nothing else. But a country cannot survive the poverty of materialism. To survive it is essential that life be enriched by a spiritual content, by the dignity of a life of faith and belief in something more noble than the clod of dust that comes and goes.

The United States is a national manifestation of the concept that economic determinism is an evil, for as the Declaration of Independence so brilliantly states, this country was founded in the spirit of the natural law of God.

Throughout our history, the American people never lost their central concept, their realistic assumption that a nation is only as strong as its moral postulates. It is only in recent years that some of our people have substituted economic statistics for trust in God. If we exhibit weakness as we approach 1960, it is not that our statistics show that things are going wrong; it is that obviously we are losing our firm faith in God and country. No nation can lose its patriotism and not lose its economic strength. When selfishness becomes a substitute for patriotism—even what has euphemistically come to be called enlightened selfishness—then a nation becomes very weak and can be conquered. The disease is internal.

The psychological fault of this era is that loyalty is too divided. Decades of propaganda in school and college have produced a generation which can measure and assess loyalty. Is it to their company? Is it to the world? Is it to their group? Is it to their country? Loyalty, in its very nature, must be automatic and indivisible. Those who are loyal only to their own possessions are loyal to nothing.

This Department 'Over-Sanitized'

Washington —(AP)— A team of experts has decided the department of health, education and welfare is "over-sanitized."

That means it has too many rest rooms.

The survey showed the department had a dozen rest rooms on each of its four floors. They were spacious and quite uncrowded. So it was decided to close half of them and concert them into storage space, conference rooms and file rooms.

One official said, "We've all had to double up while adding to our staffs. The most free space I've been able to find around here is in the rest rooms and it's literally true that we have held some of our smaller conferences in them."
